nformal Reception Follows Service; Couple Go to Catalina Island

Miss Alice E. Holmes, daughter f Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Holmes of 15 West Alexander street, and ustace A. Rowley, son of Mr. and s. L. T. Rowley, were married igh noon today, Thursday, 29, 1922, at the home of the 234 West Vine street. Rev. alderwood of the Congre- church, officiated at the g service in the presence o of intimate friends and owley home had been dec- or the occasion with a pro- of Shasta daisies, carna- s, roses and greenery, which o banked the fireplace, in front which the bridal party took heir place, and also formed an rch overhead.

The bride wore an attractive own of apricot-colored Canton repe and carried a shower bou- uet of bride's roses. She was at- ended by Miss Dorothy Rowley, ister of the bridegroom, as brides- aid, the latter wearing a frock f black taffeta and carrying a ouquet of sweet peas in the pas- el shades, and was given in mar- iage by her father, A. W. Holmes. The wedding march from "Lo- engrin" (Wagner) was played by Miss Erma Bradshaw. Frank L. McGillis attended the bridegroom as best man.

Informal Reception

An informal reception followed the wedding ceremony, during which refreshments were served, including a wedding cake. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Eustace A. Rowley left on their honeymoon trip to Catalina Island. They will be at home to their friends after August 1 at 451 West Windsor Road.

The bride has been a resident of Glendale about two years, coming here with her parents from Buffalo, N. Y. Eustace A. Rowley was born in Sunland, Calif., and has been a resident of Glendale and vicinity all his life. He is a member of the Glendale lodge of Elks and of the American Legion. During the war he served for two years and a half in the navy. He received a citation for unusual heroism when a motor sailor of

Albert Oliver Back From Old Home Trip

Albert Oliver of 1104 East Broadway returned yesterday from a pleasant month's visit at his home in Rochester, New York. He reports a very warm trip going east, until he passed the Needles, and then followed a rain all the way, making traveling unusually pleasant. The first night upon his arrival he experienced a good old-fashioned thunder storm, and also soon accustomed himself to paying seven-cent car-fares. He found his mother enjoying remarkably good health for a person of her age, as she has passed her 80th birthday.

On the return trip he spent two very pleasant days in Chicago, where he was entertained by friends. He enjoyed a trip through the Royal Gorge, on the Denver and Rio Grande, and made the last stage of the journey homeward on the Los Angeles limited. He reports that he is more than glad to be at home and feels that Glendale is the only place to live.

School Bond Issue For Streets Proposed

A bond issue to defray the cost of street improvement adjacent to school property has been suggested by the grammar school board of trustees which has referred the matter to the city council for further information.

Contractor Peter L. Ferry of 614 East Acacia avenue reported recently that the improving of Louise street adjacent to the Colorado school would cost $2327.42. He itemized this sum by mentioning $1516.29 for water pipe; $557.55 for paving, and $253.58 for paving the intersection and incidentals.

The board decided that this improvement job could not be settled except in connection with other contemplated street improvements affecting school property. It is now awaiting additional information before formulating a definite policy.

Eileen V. Rice and George Dickson Wed

Miss Eileen V. Rice of Victoria, Canada, and George R. Dickson of Glendale, were married at 10 o'clock Wednesday night, June 28, 1922, at the First Presbyterian manse by Rev. W. E. Edmonds. The ring ceremony was used, the marriage taking place in the presence of a group of the young couple's friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will make their home at 115½ South Brand boulevard.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED ON SUNDAY

All Day Ceremonies to Be Held and Number of Impressive Features on Program

THE CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH will be dedicated Sunday at all-day exercises. Evangelist George L. Snively will be associated with Rev. Clifford A. Cole, the pastor, in the ceremonies. "The Significance of Christianity to America" will be the subject of the dedication sermon. This will be delivered by Evangelist Snively during the morning service which will open at 10:30 o'clock. J. G. Warren of Los Angeles, president of the Southern California Christian Missionary Society, will speak at this service, also. A noon luncheon will be served in the new banquet room of the church. All those in attendance at the morning service will be the guests of the occasion. An hour of fellowship will follow the repast.

Rev. Cole

Following the Eucharist, representatives of various local congregations have been invited to attend a memorial service to pay tribute to the memory of those who have labored to make this a better world and now have gone to their heavenly reward.

"The Old Days, the Old Ways, the Old Friends," will be discussed by Charles C. Chapman of Fullerton. He will portray the old mission glamour and the more modern pioneer days. He will interpret the romance of present day development.

The evening service will be evangelistic. The sermon subject will be immortality.

"What answers do modern science, the newer philosophy and the present day interpretation of the Scriptures give to that age old question: 'If a man die, shall he live again,'" inquired Rev. Cole.

A special Sunday school session will be held at 9:30 in the morning when Evangelist Snively will give an illustrated lecture on "Sin and Its Cure."

An invitation will be extended at this time to men, women and young people to join the congregation in its new church home.

An overflow meeting will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Intermediate school. All of school age have been invited. The program will consist of songs, music, stories and readings.

As an expression of the general interest of the community in the church a large attendance is expected at these services. Every seat in the church is scheduled to be occupied at an early hour.

"The church will be tastily decorated," stated Rev. Cole. "An excellent musical program is provided; every moment will be replete with interest. Without soliciting the public for funds this young congregation has given to the city one of its best and most attractive buildings and is making a most substantial contribution to the city's material development, its educational and spiritual welfare."

ST. MARK'S SEEKS PERMANENT HEAD

Drive to Be Started to Secure Necessary Funds to Meet Salary

St. Mark's Episcopal church held an enthusiastic parish meeting last night at which it was decided to conduct a campaign next week to secure pledges for the support of a permanent rector to be called as soon as sufficient funds are available.

The farewell sermon of Rev. Hugh Cornell of Pasadena, was delivered last Sunday morning. He had retired from church work and came to Glendale by special request to substitute until a permanent pastor could be obtained. He was liked so well by the congregation that the selection of another minister to take his place was postponed as long as possible. Under the regulations of the pension board of the church he was unable to remain longer in the local pulpit.

The meeting last night was called by the vestry which is composed of C. H. Hamilton of La Canada, senior warden; Phil Bernay of 2121 Canada boulevard, clerk; L. W. Bosserman, 614 South Central avenue; E. L. Young, 325 West Milford street; R. H. Wells, 404 West Broadway; John Trotter, 801 Orange Grove avenue, and Alex J. Badger, 464 Oak street.

Plan to Pay $300 Monthly

After some discussion, it was stated that a qualified minister with personality and energy could not be expected to accept the pulpit until at least $300 a month was pledged towards church work. The present revenue from the parish is $125.

Richardson D. White of 1220 South Brand avenue was appointed campaign director. The city was divided into six districts. Brand boulevard and Broadway was made the intersecting point. The northeast section will be in charge of H. H. Faries of 404 North Louise street; the northwest sector will be supervised by H. E. Potter of 512 West Lexington drive; the southeast division will be managed by John Trotter and the southwest section by Alex Badger. C. H. Hamilton will be in charge of the campaign in the Verdugo Woodlands, and E. L. Young in Casa Verdugo, which will include everything north of the wash.

GETS CONTRACT FOR JOB

George Harmon of South Glendale avenue has received the contract for repair work and addition on the G. A. R. building at 902 South Glendale avenue. The building is to be redone inside and out and an addition built to the dining room. Women of the Relief Corps are having the work done and they expect to spend in the neighborhood of $1,000, according to Mrs. S. Houdyshel, chairman of the building committee.

POSTAL EMPLOYES PLAN BIG PARADE

Old Office Closes at Noon Saturday; New One to Open on Monday

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, June 29—President Harding today nominated D. Ripley Jackson as postmaster at Glendale, Cal.

The moving of the Glendale postoffice to its new location next Saturday afternoon is to be attended with fitting jubilation, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

A sixty-piece band from the Los Angeles postoffice is to lead a parade of all the postal employes here, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The local force will follow in about fifty automobiles, decorated with American flags and mail sacks.

The postoffice, announces Mr. Jackson, will close at 12 sharp Saturday noon, and no stamps, mail or money orders will be given or received after that time. All equipment in the old office at 124 North Brand is to be moved during the afternoon to the new location at 213 West Broadway. There will be no confusion in the work, each man having already been assigned to superintend and assist in the moving of the equipment which he uses.

After the parade the postal employes will go back to their work of installing their equipment in the new office. Work is to be continued on Sunday, so that everything will be in readiness to open for business on Monday morning.

"After we get settled in our new office," says Mr. Jackson, "we are going to hold a public reception when everyone in Glendale will be welcome to inspect the new postoffice."

GUESTS ON WEEK-END

Mrs. Alfred Netwig of 1015 Florence Place, is to have as week-end guests her sister, Mrs. Don Little and daughter Dorothy of Olinda.

A circus is being provided the kiddies today by The Glendale Evening News.

A page of animal pictures for them to color is provided by live advertisers.

The menagerie is interesting to young and old alike, so do not fail to read every line of rhymes and figures to be found.

About $5 worth of prizes are being offered the little live wires who show their ability at coloring.

Get in the game, it's lots of fun.

REAL ESTATE MEN ARE OPPOSED TO LAWYERS' BILL

Board Will Work Against Measure; Parking Law Comes Up Again

Discussion of the so-called "Lawyers' Bill" was one of the features at the meetinig yesterday noon of the Glendale Realty board. About fifteen of the members were in attendance, several who had intended to be there having been called away at the last minute.

E. C. Pendroy was to have addressed the board yesterday on the parking question and the proposals for parking ordinances, but was unable to be present. Roy D. King, in the absence of Secretary E. P. Hayward, read the minutes and several communications, one from the city council in regard to previous resolutions of the board, and one from the California Real Estate association.

Mr. King then read a letter from the California Bankers' association asking the support of the Glendale Realty board in opposing the passage of the so-called "Lawyers' Bill" which, the letter stated, would prohibit anyone except a licensed lawyer from drawing up any legal document to be placed on record. This, the letter declared, would prevent a realtor from drawing up trust deeds, leases and other documents which must be placed on record and which do not require the services of a licensed barrister.

To Fight Measure

Harry M. Miller moved that the board go on record as opposing the bill and lending all possible assistance and co operation to prevent its passage. The motion was unanimously carried and strong sentiment was expressed by various members, it being understood that the question should be agitated and the facts made known to other realtors and to the general public.

A proposition from a Los Angeles map and address company with regard to the drawing up of a map and directory of all property and owners within the city limits of Glendale was laid on the table as being unnecessary and expensive.

The discussion then reverted to the parking ordinance. The

Ralph Meeker Home Birthday Party Scene

A large party of young people were very happily entertained last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Meeker of 1320 East Colorado boulevard by their daughter Evelyn, who was celebrating her thirteenth birthday anniversary. The rooms were decorated with varicolored gladiolie and beautiful red roses. The early part of the evening was devoted to games on the spacious lawn, and the later hours to informal dancing. Light refreshments were served, also a lovely birthday cake, bearing the name of the little hostess, as well as the customary candles and other decorations.

The guests were Helen White, Betty Glade, Rebecca Brant, Jeannette Yarbrough, Mabel and Virginia Horner, Janice Brown, Dorothy Forbes, Katheryn Kitterman, Portia Chambers, Gevene Houseman, Nellie Jepson, Marian Johnson, Margery Faulkner, Josephine McLaren, Frances Moroz, Dorothy Allen, Marian Bean, Preston Hanning, Donald Murray, Harold Campbell, Tom Muff, Edward Littell, Samuel Colburn, Harry Leiser, Roland Edwards, Leslie McLain, Maurice Bean, Raymond Radcliff, Frank Wykoff, Maurice Toll, Charles Hart, Calvin Drake, Dana Van Loon, Bruce Harshbarger, Howard Rettberg, Drew Walstrom of Los Angeles. The little hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Mildred Meeker.

W. G. Boyd to Build Duplexes for $30,000

Forty-eight thousand dollars' worth of building permits were issued yesterday raising the credit of the month from $272,463 to $321,063 and making the total for the year, so far, $3,157,517.

Among those issued yesterday and this morning are the following:

W. G. Boyd, six 8-room duplexes and two garages, 625-631 North Orange	$ 30,000
G. A. Carruthers, 8-room duplex, 637 North Kenwood street	4,000
Mrs. M. E. Bowyer, 5 rooms and garage, 316 South Glendale avenue	2,500
Fred E. Hough, 5 rooms and garage, 340 West Windsor Road	2,500
A. J. Pelly, 4 rooms and garage, 1124 Allen St.	2,000
E. B. Orvis, double garage, 504 Griswold street	1,000
Grand View Memorial Park, addition to office and garage	400

MUSICAL FESTIVAL IS ENDORSED BY PROGRESSIVES

Community Meeting May Be Called to Aid Project; Favor Park Tax

Home made birthday cake, breaded pork chops and official resolutions comprised the bill o' fare at the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Progressive club.

The Glendale Musical Festival and Children's Choral Crusade, suggested by Harry Girard a few weeks ago, was unanimously endorsed by the club. A motion by Dr. Henry R. Harrower that representatives of all civic organizations in the community should be invited to attend a meeting to discuss the subject, was approved.

The work being done by the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce in regard to a new Southern Pacific station for Glendale was complimented by an official resolution.

"I don't think there is a question of a doubt but that you are going to see a nice depot here," remarked Dr. Harrower with enthusism. He said that "in view of his natural modesty," he would ask Attorney G. H. King to relate what happened at Tuesday night's conference between railway officials and the committee. His activities on this occasion was complimented strongly by Mr. King.

Money For Parks

"If we are going to have a series of parks here, we have got to keep them up," asserted Dr. Harrower. At this suggestion a resolution was passed endorsing the city council's proposal to increase the tax allotment for parks. He reminded those present that this probably would mean an extra 50 cents from each taxpayer.

A movement to affiliate the Progressive clubs with the National Exchange clubs was brought up by Secretary James Howarth. He stated that this would mean an affiliation with Exchange clubs in 150 cities of the east and their 8,000 members. When it had been explained that the name, identity and aim of the Progressive clubs should be retained, the movement was approved.

John Camphouse and Wife Honor Guests

Mr. and Mrs. John Camphouse, who celebrated their eleventh wedding anniversary Tuesday, were honored Tuesday night with an informal dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Lawrence of 139 South Adams street were hosts. Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Camphouse are sisters and the dinner company included members of their families.

Mrs. Lawrence carried out a most artistic scheme in arranging the table. She used shades of pale pink and white, a large vase of Shasta daisies resting on a mirror centerpiece occupying the middle of the table, while pink candles in glass candlesticks with rose petal shades furnished the light. Clever place cards with rose petal leaves concealing anniversary messages marked the places.

Those who were seated about the table for the five course dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. John Camphouse and children, Donald, John William and Marjorie; Mrs. M. L. Sloan, Mrs. J. J. Camphouse, Miss Grace Camphouse, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Moore and children, George Junior and Mary Louise, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and daughter Adrianne.

After the dinner hour an evening of games and music was enjoyed, and one of the pleasant features was the presentation of gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Camphouse.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gibbs of 508 West Lexington drive, who celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary yesterday, were honored last evening at a family dinner at the home of Mrs. Gibbs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Prime at 323 North Howard street. Other guests were Mr. Gibbs' mother and brother and sister, Mrs. A. H. Gibbs and Wendell and Minnie Gibbs.

THANK YOU, MR. MILLER

H. M. Miller, real estate dealer at 114 East Broadway, brought a lug box of peaches to The Glendale Evening News office as a sample of what can be grown right here in Glendale. It didn't take long for the force to get on the outside of the luscious fruit, you bet. So we thank you, Mr. Miller.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE

Joseph Swickard, who plays the role of Marcella Desnoyers in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," now at the Glendale theatre, made a personal appearance last night. He will be present again this evening, it is announced, due to the great innovation given this famous character actor.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Governors Henry J. Allen of Kansas, J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma and Pat Neff of Texas were invited today by Chairman McChord of the interstate commerce commission to come to Washington on July 12 to discuss the Orient railroad. "The Orient railroad situation is so serious that vigorous steps must be taken immediately if the line is to be continued in operation," McChord said in his telegrams to the governors.

DISCUSSION OF PRINCIPLES AT HAGUE CONFERENCE

THE HAGUE, June 29.—"Principle pounding" was the feature of today's session of the international conference subcommittee on property in which M. Litvinoff, head of the soviet Russian delegation, again fought a battle of wits with the allied statesmen. Everybody took pains to emphasize that discussion of principles of government have no place in this conference, but they crept in anyhow. "Nothing is to be gained from discussion of principles and the waving of flags," declared Major Philip Lloyd Graeme, head of the British delegation.

CHICAGO, June 29.—National officers of the Federated Shop Crafts, maintenance of way brotherhood, the signalmen, clerks and stationary engineers' and firemen's unions were cited by the United States railway labor board today to appear before the board tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on charges of conspiring to interfere with the operation of the railroads in violation of the transportation act. The action taken by the board is the same as was taken in the threatened railway strike of last September. In this instance, however, only the union heads are cited, whereas last fall railway chiefs also were involved. Citation of the union chiefs marks the first official attempt by any government agency toward aversion of the strike of shop crafts union, which has been set for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN AT SEA IN HIS EXPLORING SHIP

NOME, Alaska, June 29.—Captain Roald Amundsen put to sea in the exploring ship Maud yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock escorted by a fleet of Nome vessels headed by the United States coast guard cutter Bear, Captain Cochran. Final farewells were given several miles out in the Bering sea as Captain Amundsen turned the prow of his vessel toward the Arctic sea, bound for Point Barrow, which he intends to use as a base in flying over the North Pole. Nome turned out in full regalia in honor of the Maud's departure. Mayor Maynard declared a half holiday. The city was splendidly decorated as the largest parade in ten years wound down to the dock. Captain Amundsen issued a general invitation to all Nome to visit his ship and hundreds examined the Maud before she sailed away for the Arctic.

COST OF BUILDING OF 240 ROOMS TO BE $425,000

Eastside Association and Los Angeles Interests Outline Proposition

The first day of next January has been set for the opening of the new $425,000 seven-story, 240 room tourist hotel and "society rendezvous" backed by the East Glendale Advancement Association.

The location will be immediately over the large excavation on the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway. Construction will be commenced immediately—or as soon as an additional $50,000 has been raised in Glendale.

A special meeting to discuss the project was held last night in the council room of the city hall.

The Eastside Advancement association was represented by its hotel committee consisting of Mrs. Mabel T. Tight, 612 East Broadway; R. M. Brown, 106 South Glendale avenue; F. L. S. Perch, 723 East Broadway, and S. C. Kinch, 328 North Brand boulevard.

C. W. Ingledue of 632 East Broadway, president of the organization, was elected chairman of the evening. Charles A. Fischer of 112 North Adams street was elected secretary.

Anthony Ambrosini of 723 East Broadway was in attendance.

Group From Los Angeles

The meeting was attended by a group of men from Los Angeles who are interested in the project. Among them were the following:

Harry J. Tremain, manager of the Angeles hotel in Los Angeles and formerly manager of large hotels in Minneapolis.

George A. Whitney, representing the W. Ross Campbell company of 712 South Spring street, Los Angeles, leasing brokers.

Garbage Collection Rules Announced

Two important changes in the service of the sanitary department of the city administration were announced this morning by Henry W. Hollenbeck, sanitary inspector.

The first is the discontinuance of a fee for the disposal of garbage in the residential section of the city, and second a change in the frequency and time of collection of waste matter.

Waste matter, which includes tin cans and other rubbish, has up to this time been collected each week, but according to the change the collection will be made twice a month in the future.

Glendale is divided into three routes for the collection of waste matter and Mr. Hollenbeck announces that collections in the routes will be made according to the following schedule:

West route, north of Colorado street and west of Brand boulevard, first and third Mondays of each month.

East route, north of Colorado street and east of Brand boulevard, first and third Tuesdays of each month.

South route, all parts of the city south of Colorado street, first and third Wednesdays.

Mr. Hollenbeck also announces that to facilitate collections, all garbage and waste matter must be on the curb or alley line not later than 6 a. m. on the days of collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Goudie In 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Goudie, Sr., of 324 West Elk avenue celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last Tuesday night with a dinner party at their home. Floral decorations of pink and green were used in the living rooms and the same color scheme was carried out in the crepe paper ribboniers that hung from the chandeliers.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goudie of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. John Pickett of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Goudie, Jr., and son, Robert III, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Budway, John C. Goss, Miss Rose McLaughlin and Mrs. William E. Gordon.

Mr. and Mrs. Goudie were married in Chicago, Ill., twenty-five years ago and have resided in Glendale for ten years.

He'll boost through the night,
And all day with a might,
So here's to Sir Rooster, the booster.

ALICE HOLMES AND EUSTACE ROWLEY WEDDED TODAY

Informal Reception Follows Service; Couple Go to Catalina Island

the U. S. S. "Salem" sank off Key West and he, with some of his mates, went out and saved sixteen of the boys, September 29, 1918. This motor sailor, or liberty boat, was returning from Key West when it was caught in a storm and sank.

The invited guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley W. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton B. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Morton, Miss Ruth Morton, Mrs. Mary A. Grawitz, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fortunato, Mrs. Florence Morton, Miss Judy McKellar and S. A. McKellar of Downey, Mrs. J. H. McKellar and Q. J. Rowley of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. C. Cawthon of Texas, Robert Rowley, Dorothy Rowley and Marion Rowley of Glendale.

Hostess at Shower

Miss Margaret Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crawford of 800 South Central avenue, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Holmes. Pink roses, magnolia blossoms and ferns were used as floral decorations throughout the house. A blue satin parasol was suspended from a chandelier, and from it hung pink ribbons weighted with Cecil Brunner rosebuds. Under the parasol were arranged an assortment of very beautiful and useful gifts.

After a social afternoon and the opening of the gift packages, refreshments were served, including pink ice cream and cake decorated with hearts and Kewpie favors were given to the guests, which included Mrs. A. W. Holmes, Mrs. W. W. Holmes, Mrs. Joe Fortunato, Mrs. Florence Morton, Mrs. G. H. Morton, Miss Ruth Morton, Mrs. Mary Grawitz, Mrs. L. T. Rowley, Miss Dorothy Rowley, Miss Lillian Schick, Miss Dorothy Carmack, Mrs. George W. Selover, Mrs. George H. Herald, Mrs. Wm. Crawford, Miss Margaret Crawford and the honoree, Miss Alice Holmes.

Railway Executives to Oppose Shopmen

CHICAGO, June 29.—Railway executives who were served last night with an ultimatum by the shop crafts unions that a strike will be called July 1 unless certain demands are met, are not expected to accede to the union's demands, according to opinion prevalent here today. If the unions carry out their threat, the long-threatened strike of shopmen probably will be called.

Railway executives, it was announced today, will meet in Chicago tomorrow to consider Jewell's ultimatum. The unions, in a 2,000-word telegram to T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of American Railway Executives, demanded that the railway managements ignore recent wage cuts ordered by the United States railway labor board; restore certain working rules which the board has revised and abolish the system of contracting outside work. The alternative is a strike.

The telegram was sent by B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor. Jewell spoke as the representative of section 7 of the department, which comprises the machinists. Maintenance of way employes are not parties to the ultimatum. It is expected, however, that if the strike is called, the maintenance men will join in.

Jewell's telegram was sent after a series of conferences of union executives here. It was based on a partial tabulation of strike votes taken by the union, which shows an "overwhelming" sentiment in favor of a walkout.

Sunday School Plans Great Parade, Picnic

The Sunday school of the First Methodist church is going to demonstrate Saturday afternoon that they are a real live organiaztion by staging a big parade previous to their annual picnic outing at Sunland.

All members of the church school are to assemble at the church at 1 o'clock and with colors and banners flying and accompanied by the orchestra-band, they will march down Wilson avenue to Brand boulevard, then to Broadway, to Glendale avenue and on to Sunland.

Included in the program starting at 3 o'clock at Sunland, will be a series of baseball games: Men's Bible class vs. Young Men's Bible class; intermediate boys vs. junior boys; Baracs vs. seniors; senior girls vs. intermediate girls; and winners vs. winners.

There will also be games for smaller children in charge of Misses Ross and Lookabaugh and for the older ones foot races, tug-of-war between fats and leans, potato race, sack race and cracker race by members of the choir.

The final event will be the dinner at 5 o'clock, during which prizes will be awarded to winners of the afternoon events. Mrs. S. A. Davis is in charge of arrangements for the dinner and announces that every one is to bring a basket lunch.

Friendship never forgets. That is the wonderful thing about it.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

'From Kivver to Kivver'
Smiles Make Optimists
Ideas Have to Ripen
Getting a Good Sunburn

By Gil A. Cowan

HAPPY is the evening one can take the time to read The Glendale Evening News "from kivver to kivver," just as many of you folks do. There is hardly a paragraph in this paper that doesn't hold something of personal interest to some one of the congregation.

In the sporting brevities yesterday reference was made to Howard Ehmke, pitcher for the Detroit Tigers. Well do I remember the day in Mediaeval and Modern History class at Glendale Union high school when I discovered his pitching record in eastern academies. It was made public and soon after he joined the Pacific coast circuit and since then has made quite a "rep," as our sporting friends would say.

In the telegraph report brought to The Evening News readers daily there was mention made of a thousand acres of J. F. Gibson's ranch near Visalia being burned. That's right in territory I know pretty well. Among the births I noted that my old school chum, Jamie Shea is a papa; in the personals it was told that Jesse E. Smith of Ford fame is breaking ground for a new home, and so on it goes.

Equally happy is the evening I can get away from the desk and attend a meeting like that of the general building committee of the American Legion. It is like going to school again. There some mighty bright minds are revealed, some words of wisdom heard and a great deal of information obtained.

The same is true of club meetings, etc., where the crowd is limited, and friendships are made which cannot be broken by an unhappy day. You get to know people as they really are. And, by George, it is gratifying to say that most men (and women, too) are a whole lot better than they are painted.

A lot of the readers of this column would feel a lot better tomorrow if, before retiring this evening, they would stand in front of a mirror and smile as though they meant it. It might crack their face, or the mirror, but it would give Glendale a more optimistic aspect in the morning.

You'd be surprised at the number of people who would smile at you if you smiled at them, even among the ladies. And a hearty handshake for the newcomer here, a wave to the passing tourist, will do more to make Glendale a "homing" town that all of the literature, pictures or penned assurances that this is a city of homes.

In breaking ground for their new clubhouse the officers and members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club here need feel righteous pride in a big accomplishment that will stand as a monument to the tireless work of those who made it possible.

Of course, there are others who merit praise, but to those who had the conception, the determination, the business acumen and financial ability to give this great and growing organization a home of its own—to them must go the laurels.

It is the idea, not the details that count. If a person has the right idea, the little things, the developments will take care of themselves. Many times an idea results from an idle dream and credit and profit goes to the man or woman who works out the details, but remember: Without an idea a detail worker is as useless as an icicle on a summer's day.

Then, again, ideas have to ripen, just like bananas. Some of the bunch may be rotten. So much the better. If it were not for the bad, there would be no comparative value by which to judge the good.

Glendale has some big problems to face in the mighty near future, for its growth is going to be unprecedented in the next four years. And the big person of tomorrow here is going to be the man or woman who has ideas ripening at the right time.

Everybody should study that which will make this city better. Yes, a good old fashioned debate now and then will make thinkers of the dumbest men, for it isn't always that which is said, but what people think.

Every warm afternoon undoubtedly everyone in Glendale thinks the same as I, "Why isn't that swimming pool done yet?"

Not much is being said on the subject, but a little more action on the part of the contractors wouldn't hurt a nickel's worth and the youngsters would be tickled pink and sunburned good if the plunge were open now.

Incidentally, if you are not feeling well, do the same trick, but don't take this comment seriously and overdo the stunt.

Jap Girls Adopt Fad Bobbing Their Hair

DETROIT — "They're bobbing their hair in Tokio," declares Dr. Yoichi Uyena, chief director of the institute of Industrial Psychology of Tokio, who was a guest of the Society of Industrial Engineers here.

"Certainly there are flappers in Japan," he asserts. He says that the men of Nippon accept the flapper philosophically and that there is no movement to regulate the dress of women. Bare knees have not yet reached the Japanese Empire, he says.

Great Lakes Ships Get Weather Report by Radiophone

WASHINGTON.—Shipping and aviation interests on the Great Lakes are to have the benefit of the weather bureau's radio weather-reporting facilities, completing the bureau's program of giving this service to all shipping interests in waters about the United States—in the Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico, Pacific and Great Lakes. Heretofore this type of service was only in operation along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and in the Caribbean sea.

Twice daily—at noon and 11:30 p. m., seventy-fifth meridian time—between April 15 and December 20 the Great Lakes naval radio station will broadcast on 1,988 meters wave length a message giving surface weather conditions as observed at 8 a. m. or 8 p. m. and aerological observations taken in the morning or afternoon of the date of distribution. The message will include also a synopsis of general conditions, wind and weather forecasts for the upper and lower lakes, storm warnings for the lakes, and flying weather forecasts for aviation zones, extending between western New York, northern Ohio, and Indiana and western Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Local bulletins will be distributed at various times during the day from the naval radio stations at Alpena, Mich., Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland and Duluth. Ships have been invited to call upon any of these stations for weather reports, warnings or forecasts.

Detroit Students Open Barber Shop

DETROIT. — Co-eds of the Detroit Junior College have established a barber shop and shoe shining stand to aid the city's poor. Charming volunteer workers daily shine the shoes and cut the hair of sister students.

No longer is it necessary for the co-ed to curl her "bob" at home and trust to luck to look charming after a hard day's work at lessons. Instead, she may now visit the school barber shop, where a fair sister collegian puts the proper kinks into her hair or a fancy polish on her smart boots. There is no fixed charge for either service, the "customer" merely making a voluntary contribution to the Women's League fund. The Women's League cooperates with the city settlement wrokers.

Government Plans Livestock Bulletins

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The department of agriculture is contemplating the inauguration of a nation-wide livestock reporting service to inform livestock producers and buyers of prospective supplies, hoping thereby to stabilize the livestock and meat industry by permitting closer correlation of supply and demand.

The plan, officials said, is still in the making. Full details will be worked out at Denver, Colo., on July 17, at a conference of state and federal officials and representatives of the entire livestock and meat industry.

Passing of Aviation Dog Brings Gloom to Capital Fliers

WASHINGTON. — Deep gloom has settled over Bolling Field, the army air station here.

For Sir Toby Hyflier, beloved bull terrior mascot of the air station, is gone—A. W. O. L.

Sir Toby, a veteran of eighteen hours' actual flying time, gained fame in army aviation circles. Picked up at Rochester, N. Y., during a cross-country flight, Sir Toby was christened by Hiram Maxim when the Bolling Field mapping squadron stopped at Hartford, Conn.

Sir Tobey was compelled to wear a safety belt. A little kennel was fitted up for him in the tail of a plane and he began talking in all the long cross-country flights, guarding the machine at night.

And just when Sir Toby was becoming proficient as an aviator he vanished.

But the sorrowful companions of Sir Toby resent the insinuation that he deserted—they consider him almost human and believe he is simply absent without leave.

And if Sir Toby tires of his freedom and returns to Bolling Field he will be welcomed back with open arms.

WOMAN FOR U. S. SENATE

MILWAUKEE, June 29.—Mrs. Ben C. Hooper, of Oshkosh, was unanimously nominated by the session here as the party's candidate for United States senator. She is president of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks: the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showiing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two weeks' treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money.

Call at once for a bottle of Nuxated Iron at Roberts & Echols or any other good drug store.—Advertisement.

Radio Keeps Directors Informed of Market Changes

That radio is depended upon by big business men to keep them informed on the conditions of the ever changing market is illustrated in this picture taken during a meeting of the directors of the Fidelity Trust and Saving Bank of Chicago. They are going over the bank's business while the radio is keeping them informed of the financial conditions.

'Four Horsemen of Apocalypse' Epical Film Achievement

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" opened last night at the Glendale Theatre. This is the Rex Ingram production that cost Metro $1,000,000 to make. The artistic results are priceless. Indications of the screen's power have been given in memorable productions of other years, but not until "The Four Horsemen" has there been a photodrama that has completely filled the promise of epical achievement.

It is in this sense of recording mighty events that the screen's superiority over the stage was recognized by critics after the first showing of "The Four Horsemen." Some of them harked back to the days of Shakespeare and the Elizabethan revival for a parallel in the theatre to the Rex Ingram production. They recognized the grandeur of the Great War had here been visualized as a lasting memorial.

But "The Four Horsemen" is not a war play, except as the war serves as a background for a story teeming with dramatic passion.

Rodolph Valentino has the leading role of Julio Desnoyers, a spoiled scion of Argentina, among the fifty principals in this great photoplay.

Blind Man Unharmed By Illinois Robbers

LITCHFIELD, Ill.—In days of old when knights were bold chivalry held sway. This nobleness of ye olden days is being reflected in some of the modern bandits. A display such as would possibly command the respect of the chivalrous knight was made in a hold-up of a pool room here in which all present were lined against the wall and stripped of their valuables.

When the proprietor informed the bandits it made no difference where he stood as his eyesight was gone he was not robbed or molested.

By running 100 yards in 11 4-5 seconds recently, Miss Elizabeth Lines of London, Eng., established a new record for women runners.

SIMPLE DETECTION IN A VACUUM TUBE CIRCUIT.

It has been pointed out that when an alternating (or oscillatory) signal voltage is applied to a tube whose normal grid potential is zero, the plate current decreases more on the average than it increases. The result, then, during a train of damped oscillations in the antenna is one pulse of current reduction in the plate circuit. This pulse of reduction allows the diaphragms of the telephone receivers to be released and attracted and makes one click. If there are 1,000 wave trains per second there are 1,000 clicks or vibrations of the receiver diaphragms each second, which produces a certain musical tone. Starting and stopping of the wave trains at the transmitter then produces starting and stopping of the musical buzzes in the telephones, and signaling can be accomplished in a telegraphic code.

Normal Negative Grid Potential with respect to Filament
Approx. Average Plate Current
Potential of Grid with respect to Filament
Applied Grid Volts

When the grid potential, with respect to the filament (actual grid potential), is positive, a grid current flows, which damps the signal energy and decreases the sharpness of tuning. It would be a good plan, therefore, to never allow the grid to become positive. Suppose that a certain normal negative potential is applied to the grid by a grid battery. The plate current has a certain value depending upon filament current, plate potential and this normal negative grid potential. This can be called the normal plate current. Then assume that the signal voltage applied to the grid is at no time greater than the normal negative grid potential. When the applied voltage is positive the potential of the grid becomes less negative (negative minus a certain positive), and the plate current increases a certain amount above its normal value. When the applied voltage is negative the potential of the grid is increasingly negative and the plate current is reduced below its normal value. During each cycle of signal voltage (applied) there is, then, a fluctuation of plate current above and below the normal value. By referring to the drawing it will be noted, however, that the increase of plate current is greater than the decrease due to the shape of the characteristic curve. There is, then, a pulse of average plate current above normal value for each wave train, and the response in the telephone receivers depends upon the wave train frequency.

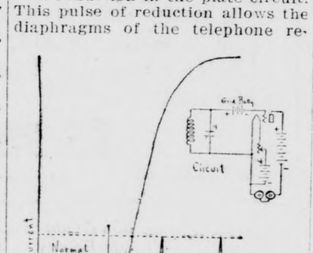
In the previous article the tube was seen to operate actually as a rectifier. In the present case, however, there is no rectification, since there is at no time any grid current flowing. Due to the pulses of plate current being in only one direction, there is, however, apparent rectification of the alternations above and below the normal plate current value, and the effect in the telephone receivers is practically the same.

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN
RADIO ENGINEER, CUTTING AND WASHINGTON RADIO CORP

A LOW POWER TELEPHONE TRANSMITTING SET.

The radio telephone transmitter illustrated is of low power, but has covered some very remarkable sending ranges. It can be successfully used on an antenna having a capacity of .00025 to .002 microfarads and resistance up to 50 ohms. Any type of 5 watt vacuum tubes may be used, and the plate voltages may be anywhere from 80 to 500 volts, limited only by the tubes.



In the upper left hand corner there is a radio frequency ammeter, which indicates antenna current. The scale reads to one ampere, and a shunt, which may be cut out, allows currents up to two amperes. The shunt is usually cut out of circuit when the antenna resistance is high. Right beside the meter is a high frequency buzzer, which is used when modulated, continuous waves are desired for telegraphing. At the upper right there is a grid control, which acts as a stabilizer. The scale provides for accurate adjustment to predetermined position. Immediately below this stabilizer are two switches, one being a plate inductance control and the other a wave length switch. The wave length switch has seven points, and any one of seven wave lengths between 160 and 325 meters may be used for transmission. To the left of these two switches there is a transmission control switch. This provides for buzzer, modulated, telegraph transmission, straight, continuous wave telegraphy or telephony. There is one position of the switch for each, and selection is quickly made. Terminals for a microphone and for a key are located below the switches. The switch at the lower left is a rheostat control. There are eight points on this switch, and the current carrying capacity of the rheostat is five amperes. Ample regulation is thus provided for, whether six, eight or ten volts are required for the filaments.

Two tubes may be used if desired and will increase the range of transmission. The telephone modulation is very good, and when filters are used the plate potential can be furnished from a direct current dynamo of proper voltage.

The panel is of formica, with a grain finish; metal parts are all highly nickel plated and the case is of heavy, dark quartered oak, with a rubbed finish. The lettering is engraved and filled with white. The case has a hinged top, which provides easy access to the interior. All terminals are plainly marked for quick and easy connection.

Rex Beach Story Last Times Today

The new Rex Beach film production, "Fair Lady," released by United Artists corporation, that will be seen at the T. D. & L. theatre for the last times today, is a heart-throbbing romance set in pulse-quickening drama with an international coloring.

The action of the story has all of the typical Rex Beach snap, adventurous complications, but the theme is one of romantic love that will appeal to all normal humans of both sexes.

The story, like all the Rex Beach works, is one that keeps the spectator guessing, and he will not be quite sure of how it is really going to turn out until it is all finished.

REAL ESTATE MEN ARE OPPOSED TO LAWYERS' BILL

Board Will Work Against Measure; Parking Law Comes Up Again

parking question, declared President C. D. Thom, is "in as garbled a state as before, and possibly even worse."

"Glendale is getting to be the laughing stock of Los Angeles," said Roy D. King. "The setting of the stage is just right in Los Angeles now to kill Glendale as Garvanza was killed some years ago," he continued, "and the parking ordinance here will drive business from Glendale as it is now driving business from the center of Los Angeles to the more outlying sections."

Three Hours Proposed

After considerable discussion it was decided that some kind of ordinance was necessary to prevent certain parking evils now existing in Glendale. It will be necessary, it was stated, to eliminate the persons who now drive to Brand or Broadway from the outer parts of the city or nearby towns, park their automobiles on the main streets, and take the electric car to Los Angeles for the day.

It was finally decided that a three-hour ordinance should be put into effect, the three-hour zone to extend from Central to Everett on Broadway, and from California to Lomita on Brand. A resolution to that effect was unanimously passed, and the secretary was directed to send a copy of the resolution to the council.

The parking of automobiles in double rows on Brand boulevard below the railroad tracks, within the city limits of Los Angeles, was discussed. This system of parking, it was said, is dangerous and hinders traffic between Glendale and Los Angeles. Mr. King was appointed by President Thom to interview Chief of Police J. D. Fraser, and to ask the latter to confer with the Los Angeles police with a view to putting an end to the congested condition in that district.

Before adjourning it was decided to ask the city council of Glendale for a public hearing on the parking question, the hearing to be held Thursday, July 6, if possible.

American Prisoners Of Bandit Gang Free

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—The forty Americans and the quarter of a million dollars'worth of American property belonging to the Cortez Oil company, seized near Tampico by General Gorozabe, a Mexican bandit, have been released, according to official advices reaching the state department today. The rebel general, however, left the camp and proceeded with his men to the camp of the La Corona Oil company, near Tecero, where he seized the property and eighty-five workers in the camp. The property is owned by Dutch-British interests and included among the eighty-five men captured were six Americans.

The state department's advices came from Consul Shaw at Tampico. Shaw's first telegram, dated yesterday, said that the bandit general had left the American camp at 10 o'clock Monday morning, threatening to return. His second message, dated last night, said Gorozabe had returned yesterday and seized the Tecero camp in the same vicinity.

The property of the Cortez company was not damaged, so far as is known and little was in consul Shaw's message to indicate the Americans had been injured or mistreated in any way.

Shaw did not state whether the ransom demanded for the Americans had been paid, but the opinion prevailed here that it had not.

Shaw is in close touch with George S. Summerlin, the American charge at Mexico City, who has made vigorous representations to the Mexican foreign office concerning the episode.

In reply, Foreign Minister Pani has assured Summerlin, today's advices said, that every effort will be made by both military and civil authorities in Mexico to bring Gorozabe and his bandits to justice.

Two boatloads of Mexican federal troops have left Vera Cruz for the Tampico district to take up the pursuit and chastisement of the rebel chieftain, who apparently is running wild with a small bunch of men throughout the region.

French Like Peppy Yankee Dance Music

PARIS.—"A jazz band without American musicians is like a restaurant without a French chef."

That is why, according to the proprietor of a popular the dansant place in the famous woods, the Bois de Boulogne may lose its jazz music.

Resorts that employ jazz bands are being reminded by the authorities that a law exists limiting their foreign personnel to 10 per cent of the total number employed in any single capacity.

That means that out of an orchestra of ten jazz artists only one may be of the American "peppy" variety. One such alone, the proprietors of the restaurants and cafes assert, cannot make enough noise or execute weird enough discords to please the dancers. French musicians, they confess, lack talent in this direction. Only Americans—North or South—can make the jazz jazzy enough.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL IS ENDORSED BY PROGRESSIVES

Community Meeting May Be Called to Aid Project; Favor Park Tax

Glendale Progressive club, at Dr. Harrower's suggestion, was appointed a delegate to the national convention to be held the last of July in Salt Lake City. Capt. Kelly recommended that Dr. Harrower should be appointed to attend also.

L. G. Scovern Ill

The illness of L. G. Scovern, of 108 East Acacia avenue, member of the club, was reported by Dr. James A. Belyea, chairman of the membership committee. It was decided to send a suitable bouquet as an expression of sympathy.

Ed N. Radke of 109 South Brand boulevard was appointed chairman of a special park committee by the members of the board of directors who voted from their places at the table.

Humor for the occasion was furnished by Capt. D. Ripley Jackson. During the "speech-making" he suggested that Dr. Harrower and Attorney King should take five minutes recess to eat their lunch. Later, when he admitted that they "were coming up for air," he announced the fact that yesterday was his twenty-third wedding anniversary.

B. W. Sherwood of 213 South Brand boulevard, one of the charter members of the club, was fined 75 cents for having been absent at the last four meetings. He paid his fine good naturedly and remarked that he would not have come if he had known of the penalty.

All members who came late were fined 25 cents. A number of other fines were assessed.

In Honor of Birthday

A white cake with pink candles was displayed toward the close of the meal at the end of the table in front of the place of "Buzz" Sutton of 120 South Maryland avenue. W. C. Waring of 201 South Brand boulevard announced that it had been made for him by Mrs. Sutton in honor of her husband's birthday, which occurs Friday.

"If my wife made it," remarked Mr. Sutton, "I know it is good! I'd sort of like to eat it all myself, but I suspect I had better cut it up and pass it around."

A suggestion that Mr. Sutton should be fined $1 for "having a selfish thought" was vetoed when the cake was distributed.

The service and food at the luncheon were the sources of many compliments.

The meeting closed with song.

Shopmen Prepare to Strike on Saturday

CHICAGO, June 29.—Railroad shopmen throughout the country today began preparations for a strike beginning Saturday. The strike call fixes the hour for the strike at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

While strike plans of the unions were going forward, executives of the leading railroads assembled in Chicago to consider the ultimatum laid down by the shopmen that wage reduction orders of the United States labor board be ignored, old working rules restored and the practice of farming out repair work from the shops be abandoned. The executives were to convene at 2 o'clock.

The single hope of averting the strike, so far as surface indications are concerned, lies in the possibility that the railway executives might seek a joint conference of union leaders, rail heads and members of the labor board. No announcement of any plan has been made, but it was regarded today as a possibility.

There were evidences today that the three sides most directly concerned with the threatened strike are each torn to a greater or less degree with internal dissension.

It is no secret that the labor board, facing the strike that will afford the greatest test of its power, is divided. The public and railroad groups are standing together on the issue of wage reductions while the labor members of the board are in open dissension against them.

It is understood that the rail executives are not all of one opinion regarding the farming out plan, which is one of the chief issues. Some executives, it is reported, are prepared to take others to task for forcing the strike issued by their stand in favor of the contract method of handling shop workers.

The union ranks' solidarity is apparent but there is some skepticism in evidence as to the possibilities of the success of a strike that involves only shopmen and maintenance of way employes with train service men remaining on their jobs.

Besides the railroad shopmen involved in the strike calle, employes of the Pullman shops also have been called out. The strike cali, which was signed by J. W. Kline, president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, one of the six international unions who joined in the ultimatum to the railroads, reads:

"In compliance with the strike vote, all shop craft employes below the rank of general foreman are hereby granted sanction to suspend work at 10 a. m., July 1, on all railroads and Pullman shops in the United States. Notify all outside points. Wire number responding and number remaining at work."

Faults are thick where love is thin.

Return From Outing In Yosemite Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll L. Hare and son, Junior, of 1022 North Louise street, and Mr. Hare's mother, Mrs. A. L. Hare of 443 Oak street, have returned from a two weeks' trip through Yosemite.

The party made the trip by automobile, and Mr. Hare reports that the roads are in good condition to Yosemite, and that the Oak Flat road in the park is now open.

In Camp Sixteen the party camped next to the camp of two local people, George E. Jeffries and C. W. Spickerman. Mr. Hare went fishing with Mr. Spickerman, but he won't tell how many they caught because, as he explained:

"I don't know what kind of a story Spickerman is going to tell."

The Yosemite is full of tourists, says Mr. Hare. People are being turned away from Camp Curry, he reports, and the camps are filled to capacity.

Returning, the party drove from Fish Camp to Glendale in twenty hours, and were glad to get back home. Glendale, says Mr. Hare, is cool compared to the San Joaquin valley. He decided not to stop over there, as he had intended, when at 9 p. m. he found the temperature to be 98 degrees.

Asks Reconciliation In Letter to Judge

SAN FRANCISCO. — Superior Court Judge Thomas Graham is famous locally for two things—his success in reconciling couples who drift into the divorce courts, and for his whiskers.

Apparently his fame as "the great reconciler" has spread abroad, as he received a "mail order" for reconciliation the other day.

Mrs. Lizzie A. Morris, of Wellsville, Ohio, sent the mail order. She said she believed her husband, Tom Morris, was in San Francisco. Her daughter had become ill with worry because of separation from the father.

Judge Graham said he would undertake the job if he could locate Tom.

SEE SHOWS ON TRIAL

International News Service Wire Briefs

FAVORS GOVERNMENT ACTION

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A resolution directing the government to take over and operate all the coal mines in the United States for one year was introduced in the house today by Representative Burke, Republican, Pennsylvania.

Government operation under the Burke resolution would be directed by President Harding, who would be authorized to adjust the present wage scale controversy to the satisfaction of the miners and to sell the coal at cost of production plus a reasonable profit to the coal mine operators or owners.

JAP QUESTION INVOLVED

SACRAMENTO, June 29.—Filing articles of incorporation here of a Japanese mining company organized under the laws of Mexico gave rise to the question as to whether the California anti-alien land law prohibits a corporation from selling land in a foreign nation to California Japanese.

Secretary of State Jordan announced he had referred the question to the state corporation commissioner for his decision.

APPEALS FOR DEMOCRAT

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Gooding, Republican, of Idaho, chairman of the senate "farm tariff bloc," has appealed to the voters of Wyoming to re-elect Senator Kendrick, of that state, a Democrat. During a speech in the senate, Gooding praised both Kendrick and Senator Broussard, Democrat of Louisiana, for standing for a high tariff on farm products and said such men as they should be returned to their seats.

URGES ORDER RESCINDED

WASHINGTON, June 29—Representative Burke, Republican of Pennsylvania, has introduced a resolution in the house asking congress to order the United States railway labor to rescind its various orders for reduction of wages effective July 1.

AMENDMENTS ACCEPTED

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The house has agreed to minor senate amendments in the 1922-1923 naval appropriations bills, carrying $289,000,000 to operate the navy after July 1. The bill will be signed this week by President Harding.

CONGRESS ADOPTS BONUS

WASHINGTON, June 29.—An annual bonus of $240 for 16,700 government employes was provided for in a bill finally acted upon by congress Tuesday afternoon. Minor senate amendments were agreed to by the house. The bill now goes to President Harding for his signature.

DIE IN SUICIDE PACT

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—Gilbert Salsman, 20, and Edna, his 17-year-old bride of five weeks, are dead as the result of a suicide pact. The young couple took poison while seated in their automobile last night. The girl collapsed immediately, but the husband had enough strength to stagger into a fire house near by and tell what they had done. When firemen secured milk as an antidote to the poison, they both refused it, attempting to seize a pistol one fireman carried.

FISHERMEN ON STRIKE

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 29.—Seven hundred white and Indian fishermen at Rivers Inlet, 300 miles up the Pacific coast, struck at the beginning of the sockeye season, when eleven canneries refused to increase wages. One hundred Japanese fishermen declined to strike, and feeling at Rivers Inlet is running high, according to a dispatch received here.

AD MEN IN SESSION.

SAN DIEGO, June 29.—The convention of the Pacific Coast Ad Men moved forward with unabated pep. The thousand delegates claim the exchange of ideas and methods will result in more efficient "selling" of the coast's scenery and products to the world as well as enlivening local business, trade and commerce.

Co-ordination of advertising and selling was discussed in general today, with special talks on how to make salespeople think in advertising terms, the building of good will into business with better advertising service and a campaign to promote thrift.

STOLE CHAMPAGNE, CHARGE

SAN DIEGO, June 29.—Three men are in jail here today charged with burglary in connection with the theft of 50 gallons of whisky and 28 cases of champagne from the home of James W. Coffroth. They are William Gore, Wallace Chapman and Ilius Settle. Four other men were arrested, but later released.

The police have recovered a small part of the liquor and declare they expect to find most of the remainder soon. Coffroth recently offered $5000 for arrest and conviction of the culprits and recovery of the wine.

S. P. CUTS PRICES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Reductions of from 5 to 30 per cent in the prices of practically all items of food served on their dining cars was announced by the Southern Pacific Railroad. The principal cuts are 5 cents per portion, including "ham and," cereals, vegetables, with larger cuts on meats.

Nucleus of Library For Grand View Folk

At a recent meeting of the members of the library board, of which O. Spencer is president, a committee of the whole was appointed to investigate as to the location of a branch in the Grand View district. Mrs. J. C. Danford, city librarian, states that probably for the present there will be established a depository or nucleus of a library and that some one from that section of the city will be qualified for custodian who will be able to give service while a permanent site is being chosen.

Owing to the resignations of Miss Dorothy E. Rich and Miss Alice M. Green, who are planning to enter the southern branch of the University of California, and also of Miss Margaret Pardon and Miss Helen Hartwig, who are to be married soon, a class in library training has been inaugurated this week by Mrs. Danford in order to fill these vacancies. As this training is during library time, Mrs. Danford states, she is not justified to give the time except for girls to fill the vacancies. The members of this class are people who have had either library or clerical experience or girls of high school age.

Dumb-bell Mustache Cause for Divorce

DETROIT—Mrs. Lillian "(Peggy") Watson is not yet twenty-five years old, but she is through with men and marriage for all time.

Mrs. Watson is suing Charles E. Watson for divorce. She has been awarded $10 a week alimony pending disposition of the divorce action. She was asked if she fancied there was any possibility of reconciliation.

"I'm afraid not. Every time we quarrelled he would grow a mustache. He knew I despised these little mustaches and that was his method of spiting me. As soon as we made up he would shave the thing off. But directly I saw it sprouting I knew that we were in for another spat.

"Sometimes I feel there should be a reconciliation. You see, Charles is no older than I. He needs someone to care for him. But then I think of that mustache and I couldn't go through life with a mustache, so I guess I am through with men."

Two women who had booked passage on a liner for New York and had missed the boat-train in London, hurried to the air station at Croydon and engaged an airplane in which they reached Southampton a few minutes before their vessel sailed.

WOMEN AID WAR BETWEEN RIVAL IRISH FORCES

Fighting Is Renewed After Lull; Number of Dead Comparatively Light

LONDON, June 29. — One woman was shot dead and two others wounded in fighting in Dame street, Dublin, this afternoon, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Dublin.

An ambush attack was made against regulars in Westmoreland street.

Rebels exploded mines in Talbot and Gardiner streets, throwing the residents into panic.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service.

DUBLIN, June 29.—After a lull of several hours, fighting was renewed today between republican irregulars and Irish free state troops in the vicinity of the shell wrecked Four Courts building. The strongholds of the irregulars are under fire.

Colonel Moundenville and Captain Vaughton of the Free State army were killed when a detachment of their troops was attacked from ambush.

Countess Markiewicz, one of the chief adherents of Eamonn de Valera, republican leader, has joined the communist forces that have thrown in the their fortunes with the irregulars. She has been put in command of communist headquarters in George's street.

The government has commandeered all telephones and telegraphs to facilitate the censorship.

A great many women have enlisted in the republican ranks and are assisting the irregulars and communists. All kinds of materials are being commandeered. Residences at the corners of strategic streets are being seized and converted into block houses.

Officials Cannot Meet

It is feared that the fighting will spread throughout the city.

The Dail Eireann is scheduled to meet tomorrow, but it is unlikely that it can assemble owing to the suspension of train service. The new parliament is to meet Sunday, but this will be impossible unless conditions improve.

The irregulars still hold important positions in Gardiner and Talbot streets, and Parnell Square.

The casualties have been light considering the severity of the fighting. The dead are estimated at fifteen and the wounded at forty.

Leaders declare it is impossible to say when the civil war will end.

While the free state troops have been successful in routing the irregulars from some of their positions, they have been unable to achieve a decisive victory.

May Continue Days

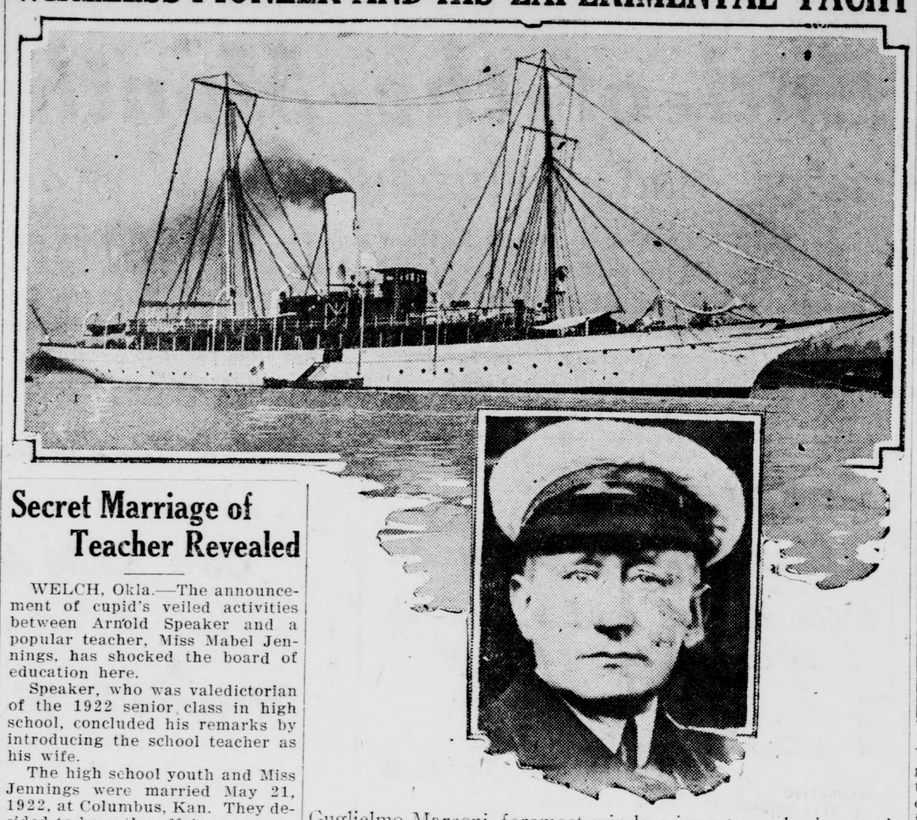
There are indications that hostilities may continue for days.

The fighting spread beyond the city this morning when reinforcements of free state troops that were moving towards the city were attacked five miles west of Dublin. The attackers were beaten off. The extent of casualties is not known.

Michael Collins, chief of the Irish provisional government, has issued a long statement accusing irregulars of wantonly precipitating the disorders.

"Under cover of revered battle cries the mutineers have enlisted Irish youth and sent them deliberately to the task of creating disorders," declared Collins. "Citizens of Ireland, your government confidently relies upon you to cooperate in the steps which are being taken to restore order."

WIRELESS PIONEER AND HIS EXPERIMENTAL YACHT



Guglielmo Marconi, foremost wireless inventor, who is now in America after a three weeks' trip across the Atlantic aboard the Elettra (above). He reports great progress in experiments to overcome static and says that within a short period there will be no longer use for the cables—that radio will supplant them.

Secret Marriage of Teacher Revealed

WELCH, Okla.—The announcement of cupid's veiled activities between Arnold Speaker and a popular teacher, Miss Mabel Jennings, has shocked the board of education here.

Speaker, who was valedictorian of the 1922 senior class in high school, concluded his remarks by introducing the school teacher as his wife.

The high school youth and Miss Jennings were married May 21, 1922, at Columbus, Kan. They decided to keep the affair secret until Speaker completed his high school education.

The board countered by purchasing the couple a silver set.

Shades of Sherlock! This Woman Seems Star at Ingenuity

CRESTLINE, Ohio — When Squire Fred Newman left on a trip to Germany recently, his daughter, Mrs. Emma Newman Snyder, was sworn in, and bonded, as his constable in order to transact the business of the squire's office during his absence.

A few days later Mrs. Snyder, the only woman constable in Crawford County, was called upon to serve papers on a local male resident.

Going to his residence she found he was absent. Pushing the papers under the door, she was about to leave when she remembered the papers were not signed. She tried to fish them back with her hatpin, but, while the pin reached the papers, it would not catch hold. She could not draw them back out.

She had an idea. Going to a nearby store Mrs. Snyder bought a package of chewing gum. Returning to the man's house she chewed a bit of gum, fastened it to the end of her hatpin, thrust it under the door and quickly drew out the papers.

Signing them, she pushed the papers back under the door.

Small Craft Takes Booze Cargo to Cuba

DETROIT, Mich. — Sea-going vessels with only oar equipment are now traversing the Detroit river. A small punt, less than seven feet in length, loaded with whiskey, was spied by a United States patrol boat in the river.

Officers of the patrol boat and government agents hurried to the punt with the expectation of seizing the liquor, but it was not to be.

"What have you there?" they asked the small man who was sculling the boat.

"Whiskey," he replied.

"Where is it bound for?" he was asked.

"To Cuba," he responded, and to prove his statement he produced clearance papers from Canada.

He was allowed to proceed.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A constitutional amendment to give congress authority to regulate the election of senators and representatives was proposed in a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Gallinger, republican, Massachusetts.

VISITORS TO WHITE HOUSE PEEVISH AT PRESIDENT

Get Angry When Harding Is Too Busy to Pass the Hand Shakes Around

By WEBSTER K. NOLAN
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—"I want to shake hands with President Harding."

This opening sally is fired at the White House doorkeeper several times a day as the first shot of what often develops into a heated debate, with the heat mostly on the side of the visitor.

A tourist, with his family, dropped in at the White House executive offices the other day and politely enough, requested permission to see the president. It was 10 o'clock in the morning, a time when the president was engrossed in conference with important officials of the government and was due at a cabinet meeting within the hour.

The tourist could not be convinced that the president was so busily engaged that he could not come out even for the quick purpose of merely shaking hands.

Must Shake Hands

"You don't understand," the head of the house (the man in this case) told Pat McKenna, for twenty years the guardian of the presidential sanctum sanctorum. "I have to catch the 12 o'clock train out of Washington with my family, and all I wish to do is to shake hands with the president. It could not possibly take more than a minute of his time. We must shake hands with the president."

Pat McKenna tried every method known to verbal artists and students of persuasion. It failed of its purpose.

The tourist was told that if he would come back at 1 o'clock in the afternoon he might join the throng of several hundred handshakers, good citizens all, and accomplish his anxious errand. The president would be glad to see him, Pat insisted. The president would be especially glad to see this household in particular, because he is especially fond of children—"and I see you have several"—persisted the smooth McKenna, who hails from that portion of the Irish map where other tourists trek to kiss the Blarney Stone.

May Change Party

But the tourist resolutely failed to see why the president could not jump up from his desk at intermittent periods and receive the hundreds of persons who call at the White House daily.

As the tourist left he had the expression on his face that usually is associated with the face of the man who has decided to shift his party politics over night.

"What nice little boys you have!"—Pat's last words were drowned out with the shutting of the White House door.

BIELASKI IS FREED

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—A. Bruce Bielaski, former chief of the bureau of investigation, United States department of justice, is no longer being held captive by the band which has been holding him for 10,000 pesos ransom, according to a dispatch received by El Gundo from Puente de Ixtla.

It is known that there are a number of federal troops in that vicinity. It has not been ascertained whether Bielaski was freed by those troops or through ransom paid to his captors.

FIRE DESTROYS SCHOOL

SAN PEDRO, June 29.—Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the Fifteenth street public school. The 800 pupils in classes at the time of the fire and corps of teachers escaped injury.

The Short Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 29.—Form reversals, those interesting little incidents of the racetrack which leave you sadder and wiser—and lighter about the form fitting wallet, have become so prevalent at the Metropolitan tracks this season that the jolly old public is just a bit wearied, not to say nonplussed.

There have been entirely too many upsets since the opening of the season to suit the taste of most of the turf patrons.

Rumors, plentiful though vague, have it that an official investigation of some peculiar looking races is about to be launched and that a few suspensions are to be passed around among the boys. However, nothing of this kind is in evidence yet.

These reversals have had the effect of making betting in this vicinity more precarious than ever and it is significant that the crowds at Belmont Park and Aqueduct have not been up to the standard of recent years. They are staying away in droves, not because they look with suspicion upon racing, a turf fan being incurable, but because the average citizen hasn't the financial resources to withstand a continued run of form reversal.

SPORTS CHATTER

Youth is ambitious. Helen Wills of Berkeley, Calif., national girls' tennis champion, the seventeen-year old phenom of the courts last year, is, in our opinion, super-ambitious. Helen is going to New York to defend her girl's title and at the same time these matches are being played at Forest Hills, the women's national singles titles are to be played. Helen has announced she will play in both events. It would seem that this pigtailed genius of the girls has set herself a severe task and, furthermore, it is a question as to whether it is policy for a girl with such a bright court future to be advised to play in two such strenuous championship events at the same time.

Little Helen leaves for the east on July 1st and will play in a number of invitational and other tourneys prior to the nationals at Forest Hills. She will open in the invitational tournament of the Agawan Country Club at Providence, R. I. Thereafter her program is announced as follows: July 19th, Field club tourney at Greenwich, Conn.; July 24, Long Island Women's tournament at Crescent A. C., Brooklyn, N. Y.; July 31, New Jersey state championships at Seabright, N. J., August 7, invitational tournament, Nassau club at Glen Cove, L. I.; August 14, national women's and girls' championships at Forest Hills, L. I.

Johnny Weismuller's ability to break swimming records seems to be endless. The outstanding feature of the work of this young marvel is not so much the large number of records he is breaking but the great chunks he is taking off the marks he does break. A phenomenal performer in almost any branch of the sport, when he breaks world records usually only clashes a fifth or two fifths off the mark, but Weismuller is slashing off all the way from six to twenty seconds, according to the distances.

This brings us round to the old story of how the late Jim Sullivan refused to believe that Duke Kahanamoku had slashed Charlie Daniel's world hundred and other records with reductions of full seconds. "It can't be done," said the famous old Jim Sullivan, "If he cut a fifth or two fifths at the outside we could believe it, but seconds—never," and Duke had to come to the mainland and go to New York to show his wares. If poor old Jim were alive today he would probably believe Weismuller's times, but if he did not learn his lesson from Duke's experience we would not be surprised if the old veteran is today turning over in his grave at the slashes the Illinois A. C. swimmer is making in the records. Nothing like it has ever been known before.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

As far as the United States is concerned, the recent results in the British open golf tournament held at Sandwich is an epoch in the game. The year 1922 bids fair to be a turning point from which time American golfers will figure in world annals instead of merely in American records, as has been the case since we started learning the game.

Only a few times with long intervals intervening have American golfers placed in foreign competition. This was only natural. Men in middle life can remember when there was no such game as golf ever talked about. It was not until the collegian of the class entering about the year 1896, or shortly thereafter, gave some consideration to the matter of some kind of a links over which to try the new game.

In the interval to the present time, the "sand-lot" player has been developed. This is the youngster in his knee breeches who takes a club and begins to work out the game just as does the American youngester with bat and ball. It was recognized that America would not be likely to be a consistent performer until the sand-lot player had become a regular product.

Walter Hagen, winner of the present British championship, is the first American born golfer to win the title. Coincidentally it means also that the first "sand-lotter" has come into his own. Hagen has competed on other occasions over in England and he has failed. He has not been what could be termed a "popular" player with either the British players or the golf writers over there. He has expressed his views freely on the game and the way it is played over there, and all of it was not pleasing to our British cousins. So, when he failed in the past, there was a sort of cynical joy.

Hagen, unruffled and unperturbed, calmly went his way and bided his time. These critics who criticised his style and maintained he never would, in his manner of play, ever succeed against the British golfers, now are confounded and probably will have little to say, although the usual crop of alibis will be forthcoming, none of which count for much on the record books.

There are many who have an idea that Walter Travis, when he captured the honors in 1904, was the first American to do so. Travis was an American by adoption, but he was a product of Australia, so that the United States was unable to claim the full measure of credit.

There probably is no golfer on the American links today who is imbued with the abnormal amount of pluck and stick-to-itiveness that Hagen has displayed on many an occasion. This, as much as any other golfing quality he possesses, helped him into the place he now holds.

ONCE WEALTHY, SUICIDE

SACRAMENTO, June 29.—Destitute and without funds, Chris Bliskey, once wealthy business man of this city, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. Bliskey at one time owned a large undertaking establishment in this city, but was left penniless by financial reverses. He was 60 years of age. He left a note saying:

"Kindly excuse me for doing this. I cannot live and not work. I have tried hard to get something to do, but in vain. My head aches with financial worries."

Tagging All Bases

The Athletics feel at home today. They slipped back into the cellar again, when Carr of the Red Sox held them to seven hits, score 4 to 2.

Walter Johnson may be an old relic but you can't prove it by the Yanks. Sir Walter fanned nine of the Hugmen and shut them out, 1 to 0.

The Phils took all kinds of liberties with the pitching of Barnes, Causey and Jonnard in the first game, winning 8 to 5, but fell back in the old groove in the second, the Giants coasting in, 8 to 3.

Having suffered two straight defeats at the hands of the Indians, the Browns turned on their oppressors and behind splendid pitching won in a walk, 9 to 0.

The Pirates cake-walked to another victory over the Cubs. Aldridge being ushered off the premises in the seventh, and Osborne, his immediate successor, faring no better, if at all.

Elephant Taken on Ride In Auto Truck

Today hadn't been advertised as Circus Day in Glendale. However, travelers along Brand boulevard long about 8 o'clock this morning got the same thrill they used to as they sat on the curb, hanging on tight to a big red balloon and waiting patiently for the parade to come.

The only trouble was that the parade this morning wasn't quite long enough, consisting only of a big red truck carrying a middle-sized grey elephant, who swayed clumsily from side to side as the truck ambled up Brand and out Broadway.

Just where the reminder of circus day was bound for no one knew, but old and young turned to look, and as his big grey ears flapped in the morning breeze he looked about unconcerned as if he really enjoyed motoring.

KILLS CHILD AND SELF

FRESNO, June 29.—Fresno firemen dragging an old irrigation ditch near here found the body of five-year-old Harold Nelson who was shot to death by his father, Conrad Nelson and thrown into the ditch. The father, after shooting the child killed himself. Belief was expressed that the man had gone suddenly insane.

How did George W. Strang's Chandler coupe get from his place of business at 710 East Broadway to the middle of the street on Glendale avenue at Harvard street last night? That's what he would like to know. However, he is grateful to get it back again.

Friends of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford, formerly of Glendale and now of 407 Stratford avenue, Houston Texas, have received word that they anticipate arriving in Glendale about July 10, and will remain here for about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCourt of 336 North Central avenue, are expected home from San Francisco Friday morning. Mr. McCourt and his son have just returned home from a trip east and Mrs. McCourt went to San Francisco to meet them. The son arrived home yesterday.

Mrs. Jack Lundregan of 308 East Maple avenue has been enjoying a two days' visit from her nephew, Ralph G. Garretson, a traveling salesman, whose headquarters are in Taft. Other guests at her home yesterday were Miss Genevieve McLafferty and Mrs. Bess Spellacy of Los Angeles.

W. H. Boselly and family of Walla Walla, Washington, accompanied by his brother-in-law, F. J. Bryan, also of Walla Walla, have arrived in Glendale and are making their permanent home at 220 West Stocker street. Mr. Boselly has disposed of his business interests in the northern city and is looking for a location in Glendale or vicinity.

A jury trial was in progress this morning in Judge F. H. Lowe's court to ascertain "how come" Stanley Derr of 117 West Colorado street, Eagle Rock, had the nerve to speed at a rate of thirty-two miles an hour. The arrest occurred on May 8. The speed limit across the street intersection where he was arrested was fifteen miles.

The Western Electric Washing machine is a good one, according to E. R. Naudain and V. V. Naudain, proprietors of the Glendale Electric company at 132 North Brand boulevard. Nevertheless, they admit that it won't run without a motor. And some one was unkind enough to remove the motor from one standing in the rear of their establishment last night.

A search was made last night for automobile bandits by local police officers. B. Carleton of 1135 East Elk street reported that the same three men who had tried to hold him up early last Sunday morning on South Brand boulevard, had repeated the attempt late last night in Southern Glendale. He outdistanced their car and notified police officials immediately.

A number of the pupils of Mrs. Alma Gibbs are to give a musical recital tonight at her studio, 316, West Lexington drive. The program is to include: "Prelude," andantino, (Spaulding), by Evelyn Bimone; "A Shady Dell," (Bilbro) and "Jolly Raindrops" (Spalding), by Virginia Sawyer; "Etude" (Spaulding) and "Rigoletto" (Verdi), by Anna Marjorie Phillips; "Tales of Dolls From Many Climes, and Ryhmes," in song, (Spaulding) by Evelyn Bimone; "Miniature Melodies" (Gaynor), by Esther Phillips; "Fairy Echoes" (Spaulding), by Evelyn Bimone.

Miss Marion Hill was the guest of honor at a party given at her home, 519 North Louise street, Tuesday evening in celebration of her sixteenth birthday anniversary. During the evening Mrs. Robert B. Forsythe entertained with a violin solo, followed by vocal selections by Miss Trimble and Claude Whitfield. Later dancing and games were enjoyed until a late hour, when refreshments were served. Mrs. H. L. Boyer, Mrs. E. Mulvihill and Mrs. P. A. Wells assisted Mrs. Hill in entertaining. Those present included Miss Beatrice Trimble, Miss Pearl Berrick, Miss Janet Hodge, Miss Ann Merriken, Miss Leone Morstatter, Miss Mabel Winters, Claude Whitfield, Harold Betz, Wallace Kenny, Charles Wenger, George Todd, Sid. Chambers, George Mole and Cedric Hitchcock.

Mrs. H. L. Clotworthy of 552 West Elk avenue is expecting to leave soon for Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover of 414 West Myrtle street left recently on a trip to Missouri and New York. They anticipate returning to Glendale about Aug. 1.

At a meeting of the general building committee of the American Legion plans were made to proceed at once with the program contemplated after much discussion presided over by Commander James F. McBryde. The resignations of Dr. G. Kaemmerling, Richardson D. White and T. D. Watson were accepted, as their other duties will not permit them giving the time to the project, it was stated.

Mrs. A. T. Davis and daughter Doris of 627 Orange Grove avenue, Mrs. A. W. Knight and daughter Jane, and Mrs. Allie Black are leaving Friday for Long Beach, where they will remain over the Fourth of July.

Earl J. Thomson, graduate of Dartmouth college and who is champion hurdler of the world, having won that distinction at the Olympic meet at Belgium, arrived in Glendale yesterday and is being entertained for a few days at the home of Reverend and Mrs. W. W. Cookman, 638 North Louise street. Mr. Thomson is now athletic coach at Dartmouth college. He is to be married late in the summer to Miss Ann Cookman.

Mrs. H. G. Hoedinghaus of 1211 North Brand boulevard was hostess yesterday afternoon at luncheon and "500" to the members of the Monday Afternoon Card club, which was the closing social event of the summer season for the club. The members present included Mrs. Bine Smith, Mrs. Horace Moore, Mrs. E. W. Cizek, Mrs. Herbert Potter, Mrs. Emil Johnson, Mrs. S. H. Waller, Mrs. Leroy Bradley and the hostess, Mrs. Hoedinghaus. First prize for high score was awarded to Mrs. Waller, and consolation prize to Mrs. Bradley. Decorations of snapdragons and ferns were used throughout the house.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of 415 South Central avenue entertained as her luncheon guest yesterday Mrs. H. S. Bryan of Minneapolis. Mrs. Montgomery is entertaining as luncheon hostess today for the benefit of the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon club. As chairman of ways and means of that organization, Mrs. Montgomery has received word that a certain percentage on the sale of tickets for the series of symphony concerts to be given at the Hollywood Bowl, beginning July 11, would also be given for the building fund. Miss Gertrude Cleophas of Glendale is among the artists who will appear there during the series.

Scouts and Rotarians Gather In Burbank

The open forum meeting for the Boy Scouts last night at the Burbank Grammar school auditorium in Burbank was well attended by Glendale Boy Scouts and members of the local Rotary club. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, with Judge A. A. Crawford as chairman.

Lieutenant - Governor C. C. Young made an interesting address on "Scouting," emphasizing the necessity in the community, state and nation for getting behind the movement to make better men of the boys who are to be the men of tomorrow.

Deputy Regional Scout Executive C. J. Carlson, representing the National Council B. S. A. also gave a talk on the Scout movement. He told of the work being done among boys who without the Scout incentive might go astray, and spoke of the need of helping the boys while they are in the plastic stage, rather than trying to reform them after they have become mature.

Scout Gordon Bevans of Glendale Troop No. 3 gave an address of welcome on behalf of the Scouts, and Mayor C. C. Crawford welcomed the lieutenant-governor and the Rotarians to the Burbank meeting.

One of the features of the program was the eight-piece orchestra of Glendale Troop No. 3, which rendered several well-played selections. Troop No. 2 gave a sketch of camp life and of the resourcefulness which is taught the Boy Scouts.

Dr. Henry Harrower Is Building at Beach

Dr. Henry R. Harrower of the Harrower Laboratories is building an eight-room house on the beach at Santa Monica at the foot of the Palisades drive.

He entertained 105 employes and their friends or relatives with a beach party Sunday and everybody got sunburned, he reported, including himself.

The building of homes along the beach line by Tom Bundy and D. Harrower has created quite a good deal of comment, according to the latter.

TO FETE GOLFER HAGEN

NEW YORK, June 29.—Arrangements are being made to tender Walter Hagen, American professional who won the British open golf championship at Sandwich, an appropriate reception upon his arrival here tomorrow. Hagen will be met at the pier by a reception committee headed by a band and a motor car parade will escort him to city hall, where a celebration will take place.

In Los Angeles

ROUNDUP BLACKMAILERS

LOS ANGELES, June 29. — A huge roundup of a band of blackmailers was put under way by federal authorities in Los Angeles today following the arrest late last night of two men, who, it was believed, were the authors of a series of "terror letters" to a Hollywood man and his mother in an effort to extort a large sum of money.

Threatening the life of Fred E. Graf, Hollywood. and his mother, Mrs. F. H. Berk, of Hamilton, Ont., who is now visiting her son, the letters were mailed from Hamilton, federal agents said.

They were said to have demanded immediate payment of $12,000 in cash. If the money was not paid the letters threatened Mrs. Berk's son, Frank H. Graf, and her nephew, Herbert E. Twitchell, both of Hamilton, would be slain.

SHIP OWNERS AT WAR

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Long smoldering differences between ship owners of the Intercoastal conference flared into an open war today and the situation reached a critical point as a result of the action of the Luckenbach line in withdrawing from the conference, and at the same time announcing drastic rate reductions on all articles of freight.

This is the second line within two days to withdraw from the conference and announce rate cuts, officials of the American-Hawaiian line having issued a similar order.

JAIL ALLEGED SWINDLERS

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Exploding the first bomb in the ranks of fake stock promotion companies that are said to be operating in Southern California, Chief of Police Louis D. Oaks, through his detective department and Corporation Commissioner E. M. Daugherty, landed in jail two Japanese on a charge of having swindled Los Angeles residents out of more than $225,000.

One of the men, who gave the name of General Yokoyama, said to have been a former officer of the Mexican army, was held in the county jail. The other man, K. Nagasawa, was taken to the city jail. Both are charged with felony embezzlement.

OLD WAR HERO DIES

LOS ANGELES, June 29. — A thrilling naval battle of the Civil war was recalled today when it became known that Captain P. J. Flynn, member of the Monitor crew which fought and vanquished the Merrimac in the first battle of steel warships in history, had passed away in this city.

SEEK TO SOLVE MYSTERY

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Leaving no stone unturned in their search for John B. Hughes, wealthy realty man of Long Beach who mysteriously disappeared from his home more than six weeks ago, deputy sheriffs under instructions of Sheriff Traeger today were investigating every clew which might aid in solving the disappearance.

The search was instituted when Mrs. Louise Hughes, wife of the missing man, appealed to the sheriff's office for assistance in locating her husband.

It was understood Hughes had written his wife a note on the day of his disappearance, telling her he needed a short rest. Officers are working on a theory of possible suicide, it was said.

HONOR GUY BARHAM

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Mourning the death of one whom they held in deep affection and esteem, a sorrowing assemblage gathered at the First Congregational church this morning to attend the funeral rites for Guy Brinton Barham, late president of the Evening Herald Publishing company.

Mr. Barham died in London June 9, following an operation undertaken for the relief of a malady of the throat.

In respect to the memory of the deceased president of the company, all activities of the Evening Herald were completely suspended for a period of 10 minutes between 10:30 and 10:40 o'clock.

A special police guard of motorcycle officers led the cortege to Rosedale cemetery where interment was made.

Flags were at half mast on many of the public buildings and Judge Summerfield adjourned court out of respect for the deceased.

OUTING AT ARCH BEACH

A party leaving Glendale Saturday for a camping outing at Arch Beach over the Fourth of July will include Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ratigan and family of 213 South Cedar street, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yaeger, also of Glendale, and Mrs. Oream of Eagle Rock.

Informal Reception to Minister and Bride

Rev. and Mrs. Louis Tinning, whose marriage was a recent social event, have returned from a two weeks' trip and they were honored last evening with an informal reception following the mid-week meeting at the Presbyterian church, of which Rev. Tinning is assistant pastor.

Wives of the elders arranged the affair and Mrs. John Horsch was chairman of the program committee. The program features were readings by Miss Anita Fletcher, a group of vocal selections by Miss Elizabeth Mottern, accompanied by Miss Isabel Spear, pianist.

At the close of the program Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor, presented Mrs. Tinning with a shower bouquet of carnations and dollar bills, the latter having been rolled and tied individually to the flowers on varied lengths of pink ribbon. In presenting the bouquet Rev. Edmonds formally welcomed Mrs. Tinning into the fellowship of the church. On behalf of the elders' wives, Mrs. Horsch presented Mrs. Tinning with an artistically decorated bridal cake.

Dr. W. P. White of Albany, Ore., who spoke at the meeting earlier in the evening, was a special guest at the reception.

Maybe Alfred Barnes is Kidnaped, What?

"I wouldn't be surprised if Mr. Barnes has been kidnaped by some bowlegged Mexican Indian," said E. T. Seidenglanz of the Circle Real Estate company, yesterday.

He referred to Alfred H. Barnes of the realty company, who left for Mexico several weeks ago. The company has had no word from Mr. Barnes for more than two weeks, and, though the notorious slowness of Mexican mail may explain his silence, the real estate boys must have their fun.

Mr. Barnes wrote from Nogales several weeks ago that he was awaiting the pleasure of the customs officials to get across the line. In that letter he told of some Indians he had seen on the streets, and reiterated his promise to bring one back with him.

"He took chloroform and gas masks with him," sighed A. H. Nichols, another member of the firm, "so that he could get near enough to an Indian to capture him, but the mask must have slipped."

Alex Mitchell Leaves His Federal Position

Tomorrow is the last day Alex Mitchell of 2001 Kenneth road will be in the office of federal land receiver at Los Angeles, being succeeded by Brainerd B. Smith, a Republican. Mr. Mitchell retires with nothing definite in sight, although he contemplates entering the real estate business here.

Mr. Mitchell is deeply interested in winning the return of his party to power, it is stated, and he has been locally active in behalf of Attorney Mattison B. Jones, gubernatorial candidate.

HUGE CREDITS ARE NOW AVAILABLE, BANKS REPORT

Light Demand for Loans Has Created Surplus of Funds, Claim

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON June 29. — The banks are swollen with surplus funds. Nearly $2,000,000,000 in credit is going begging. American banks reported loans a year ago of $13,000,000,000. Today the same banks report only $11,000,000,000 in loans.

Easy money conditions provide the answer. Because of light demands made upon them, banks everywhere have a surplus of funds available for outside investment.

Reports to the Federal Reserve Board show that in many classes of business commitments have been fully liquidated and considerable cash balances have been carried in the banks. There is less demand for customers to resort to the banks for working capital.

Reserve Board reports show that a gradual liquidation of large stocks of commodities held over in order to avoid dumping them on the market has thrown funds into the hands of thousands who are now using the proceeds in business development.

Loan Money Available

Increasing ease in the banking situation generally is shown by the vast amount of money sent by interior bankers of New York to be loaned on time. There is said to be more money drawn to New York on such a basis than has been reported since the free market for time funds was restored tome time ago. Larger volume of security sales and heavier offerings of new industrial issues have absorbed a part of this fresh supply of credit.

Generally officials here are of the opinion that the flotation of security issues in the heavy volume recently noted shows a readiness by the business community to spend large sums for improvement purposes. In many directions it has brought a stimulus to the basic industries.

The country is working around to the point of obtaining a better balance in the industrial structure. Observers have noted that the iron and steel industries have exhibited healthful signs of growth, following the launching of betterment projects in that field.

Slowing down of business over the preceding months released a large volume of funds which has sought investment, and much of it has gone into government securities. Such securities as Treasury certificates have been offered in large volume and have been heavily over-subscribed by investors.

RETELLS TALE OF OLD TRAGEDY AT DONNER LAKE

Story of Pioneer Days Is Related; Many Starved in Sierra Nevadas

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Nestling in the high Sierras like a jewel in its setting lies Donner lake, one of the show places of California and a favorite resort of tourists, both winter and summer. But the shores of Donner lake, in all their beauty, were the scene of one of the greatest tragedies of the early history of the Golden State, the death by starvation of forty-two members of the famous Donner party from which the lake takes its name. The story is retold by a writer in a recent issue of the Sacramento Bee.

The Donner party was organized in Sangamon county, Illinois, by George Connor, Jacob Donner and James F. Reed in April, 1846, and started from Springfield, Ill., for California. Early in May the party reached Independence, Mo., where it was increased by additional members until the train numbered about 100 persons. Here the train was amply provisioned for the ordinary journey across the plains.

Along the route the party was joined by other small parties, giving rise to many claims of membership, but most of these smaller detachments left the main body at intervals on the road.

Those in Fatal Party

The members of the Donner party proper numbered ninety, who were: George Donner, Tamsen Donner, his wife, Elitha C. Donner, Leanna C. Donner, Frances E. Donner, Georgia A. Donner and Eliza P. Donner; Jacob Donner, Elizabeth Donner, his wife, Solomon Hook, William Hook, George Donner, Jr., Mary M. Donner, Isaac Donner, Lewis Donner and Samuel Donner; James F. Reed, Margaret Reed, his wife, Virginia E. Reed, Jr., Thomas K. Reed and Mrs. Sarah Keyes, mother of Mrs. Reed; Balis Williams, Eliza Williams, John Denton, Milton Elliott, James Smith, Walter Herron and Noah James, all of Springfield, Ill.

Franklin W. Graves, Elizabeth Graves, his wife, William C. Graves, Eleanor Graves, Lovina Graves, Nancy Graves, Jonathan B. Graves, F. W. Graves, Jr., Elizabeth Graves, Jr., Jay Fosdick, Mrs. Sarah Fosdick and John Snyder of Marshall county, Illinois.

Patrick Breen, Mrs. Margaret Breen, John Breen, Edward J. Breen, Patrick Breen, Jr., Simon P. Breen, James F. Bren, Peter Breen, Isabella Breen and Patrick Dolan, of Keokuk, Lee county, Iowa.

William H. Eddy, Mrs. Eleanor Eddy, James P. Eddy and Margaret Eddy, of Belleville, Ill.

Mrs. Lavina Murphy, John L. Murphy, Mary M. Murphy, Lemuel B. Murphy, William G. Murphy, Simon P. Murphy, William M. Pike, Mrs. Harriet F. Pike, Naomi L. Pike and Catherine Pike of Tennessee; William M. Foster and wife, Mrs. Sarah A. C. Foster, and infant George Foster, of St. Louis, Mo.

William McCutchen, Mrs. W. McCutchen and Harriet McCutchen, of Jackson county, Mo.

Europeans in Party

Lewis Keseberg, Mrs. Philipine Keseberg, Ada Keseberg and Lewis Keseberg, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wolfinger, Joseph Rhinehart, Augustus Spitzer and Charles Burger, all of Germany; Samuel Shoemaker, Springfield, Ohio; Charles T. Stanton, Chicago, Ill.; Luke Halloran, St. Joseph, Mo.; A. Hardcoop, Antwerp, Belgium; Antoine, New Mexico; John Baptiste, a Spaniard who joined the train near the Santa Fe trail; Lewis and Salvador, two Indians sent to Donner lake by Captain John A. Sutter.

The journey across the plains to Salt Lake was uneventful and good speed was made by train. The only tragedy marring the peace of the trip was the death of Mrs. Sarah Keyes, near what is now Manhattan, Kan.

Shortage of Food

Early in September the party was camped near the Southern shore of the Great Salt Lake. Reaching the edge of the desert an inventory of provisions showed insufficient food to take the party to California and William McCutchen and C. T. Stanton were detailed to press on with the message to Captain John A. Sutter at Sutter's Fort.

Harassed by the Indians and with starvation staring them in the face the emigrants reached the sink of the Humboldt on October 12. There most of the cattle were stolen by the Indians and all who were able in the party were forced to walk. On October 9, A. Hardcoop had died of exhaustion and on October 14, Wolfinger was mysteriously killed. On October 19 the party was met near where Wadsworth, Nevada, now stands, by C. T. Stanton returning with seven mules loaded with provisions sent in by Captain Sutter with the two Indians, Lewis and Salvador, as guides. The supplies though scanty were sufficient to sustain life in the party and after a rest of four days William Foster and William Pike were to be sent ahead of the party to secure more aid from Captain Sutter. While preparing to start, Pike was killed by the accidental discharge of a pistol.

Snow Halts Party

The emigrants started up the Sierras, but their brief delay had been fatal and at Prosser creek, three miles below Truckee, they found snow from two to five feet in depth. Wildest confusion prevailed in the party and when the party did reach Donner lake, lack of concerted action held it there until another snowstorm had set in. In this storm most of the cattle and mules were lost in the snow and the party was definitely stopped in its journey across the Sierras.

In all, eighty-one people were imprisoned by the snows on the shore of Donner lake, housed in hurriedly built shacks, without food and with the long winter before them. Thus matters continued until the middle of December, when a party of seventeen was chosen to attempt a trip to Sutter's Fort. At the start of the trip of the "Forlorn Hope," as the expedition was known, Charles Burger dropped out because of exhaustion and William G. Murphy was forced to abandon the trip, as he had no snowshoes.

The fifteen who made up the "Forlorn Hope" were these: Lemuel Murphy, C. T. Stanton, F. W. Graves, Mary A. Graves, Jay Fosdick, Mrs. Sarah Fosdick, Mrs. Harriett F. Pike and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Foster, W. H. Eddy, Mrs. W. McCutchen, Patrick Dolan, Antoine, the Mexican; Lewis and Salvador, the two Indians.

Cannibalism Reported

On the journey of the "Forlorn Hope" starvation reduced the number from fifteen to seven by the deaths of C. T. Stanton, F. W. Graves, Antoine, Patrick Dolan, Lemuel Murphy, Jay Fosdick, Lewis and Salvador. The others made their way through after terrific struggles and terrible privations. Accounts of the trip state that necessity of sustaining life in order to effect the rescue of those remaining at Donner lake drove some of the members of the "Forlorn Hope" to cannibalism. In the meantime at the lake, Charles Burger, Lewis Keseberg, Jr., John L. Murphy, Margaret Eddy, Harriet McCutchen, Augustus Spitzer, Mrs. Eleanor Eddy, Milton Elliott and Catherine Pike had died.

After traveling thirty-two days the seven remaining members of the "Forlorn Hope" met a group of Indians, who aided them in reaching the Johnson ranch, the first settlement on the west side of the Sierras. From there John Rhodes traveled to Sacramento, where he told Captain Sutter and Alcade Sinclair of the party of starving emigrants at Donner lake. Provisions were furnished and taken to Johnson's ranch, where the first relief party was organized with the following members: R. P. Tucker, John Rhodes, Daniel Rhodes, Aquilla Glover, R. S. Mootrey, Joseph Foster, Edward Coffeemire, M. D. Ritchie, James Curtis, W. H. Eddy, William Coon, George W. Tucker and Adolph Brueheim.

Rescue Party Arrives

Tucker's party arrived at Donner lake February 19, 1847, and rescued Mrs. Margaret W. Reed, Virginia E. Reed, James F. Reed, Jr., Elitha C. Donner, Leanna C. Donner, George Donner, Jr., William G. Murphy, Mary M. Murphy, Naomi L. Pike, W. C. Graves, Eleanor Graves, Lovina Graves, Mrs. Phillipine Keseberg, Edward J. Breen, Simon P. Breen, Eliza William, Noah James and Mrs. Wolfinger. During the journey of the first relief, Ada Keseberg, John Denton and William Hook died.

The second relief was organized by James F. Reed and William McCutcheon, former members of the party, and arrived at Donner lake March 1.

At the lake the emigrants subsisted on boiled hides, the provisions long since having given out. Some few are said to have descended to cannibalism.

Owing to the lack of means of communication and transportation the rescue work was considerably delayed but before the last of the emigrants were rescued the news had been spread throughout the territory. Captain Sutter did his best, offering provisions freely. Men for the expeditions were scarce as most of those in the territory had joined Fremont against the Mexicans. Citizens of San Francisco, then Yerba Buena, subscribed more than $1500 for relief work.

John Allen Guilty In Manslaughter Case

John Allen, colored, slayer of H. J. Ronsee, a deputy sheriff and manager of the La Crescenta Water company, at La Crescenta lodge New Year's Eve, was convicted of manslaughter in the superior court in Los Angeles yesterday. A jury in Judge Monroe's court brought in the verdict after two hours' deliveration. It was the second trial and the case was featured by testimony in behalf of the defendant by W. Maxwell Burke, a deputy district attorney, at whose place Allen lived.

The occupation of guide is followed by a large number of young women of in Siam.

SEVENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN SEVEN DAYS!

Thanks, Folks, each and every one of you Red-Blooded Americans that have stepped up and so cheerfully bet your money on me to win. I appreciate your confidence more than mere words can begin to tell you. The odds today look like 1000 to 1 in our favor for a big well at

Santa Fe Springs

And if every dollar you shoot with me does not bring you a return of 100% each month for a long time, there is no investment in the world that will.

Do you all know that I am not trying to hog this proposition?

Do you all know that no "bird" ever before to my knowledge, came out and offered to bet his money, dollar for dollar, right on the line with yours? Do you fully know that this is exactly what I am doing?

Do you know that I have refused $100,000.00 for the lease I am drilling this first well on and can sell it five times over this minute for that amount?

Do you know that I have 4 acres of the choicest proven territory in the very heart of the big production at Santa Fe Springs, lying between two 4000-barrel wells?

Do you know that I am going to drill three wells on this tract and that you have the privilege of participating with me in each one, based on the actual cost of drilling them?

Do you know that I have a Gentleman's agreement with the four big companies on every side of me to stay back 150 feet from our property line, which means that no well of theirs will be closer to mine than 300 feet, or one city block apart?

Do you know that I am only calling for $175,000 to insure the completion of the drilling of this first well? Do you know how I am spending this money?

Do you know that the actual cost of completing a well at Santa Fe Springs is at least $125,000.00?

Do you know that I am drilling in an orange grove, where I have to pay $100.00 each for every tree I destroy, and that to set my rig, my boilers, my sump holes, storage tanks, roads and casing racks that I have to chop down 200 trees?

Do you know that I am paying my fifteen drillers top wages and a cash bonus of $2000.00 on this well?

Do you know that my messages to you through the press will cost at least $12,000.00?

Do you know that I stake my reputation and every dollar I have in the world on my promise to complete this well and put it on production?

Do you know that I am assigning to you 70% of my total net production from this first well on one-third of my holdings and that this assignment will be held in trust by one of the leading Banks of Los Angeles, who will collect the proceeds from this production direct from the pipe line company and distribute same to you every thirty days?

Do you know that the protection I have doped out for you is absolutely "air tight" and that I have bet every dime I have in the world that I cannot miss here?

Do you know that every $100.00 you invest will bring you an assignment, legally executed and recorded, of 1-1750th part of 70% of my total net production and that you can go to the end of the world and not return for ten years and every penny of yours will be in the Bank awaiting your return?

Do you know that my rig is up, my boilers set and that I start drilling immediately I am rigged up and expect to have my well flowing into the tanks in 90 days?

Do you know that I have pledged my word of honor to you that there is no incentive in this world could make be betray the confidence that you have placed in me, and until our well is flowing into the tanks you will find me, night and day, on the job in the field protecting that bet you placed on me to win?

Folks, if you would only realize how truly sincere I am trying to be with you, this would be the last message I would have to send. I would be oversubscribed today.

Don't wait until tomorrow. Mail your check to me today or run in and meet me personally.

struction and Building company and formerly with the Fuller Construction company.

P. W. Neville, superintendent of construction for the Universal Construction and Building company.

H. H. Lockridge of Long Beach, architect.

Plans for Financing

Financing the $425,000 project has been proposed as follows: One hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars to be raised in Glendale. This includes an allowance of $66,000 for the site. The total amount subscribed in Glendale is to be protected by second mortgages bearing seven per cent interest.

The hotel is to leased and managed by Harry I. Tremain who will invest an additional $166,000. The balance of $93,000 is to be borrowed.

Subscriptions amounting to $70,000 were reported by Mr. Ingledue. He stated that leins against the property amounted to about $20,000, leaving $50,000 still to be pledged.

The sale of bonds instead of stock was endorsed. It was explained that bondholders were not liable for assessments.

An urgent desire was expressed by Mr. Tremain to get the hotel under construction at once in order to open it at a psychological timt. He explained that the hotel is to be made a show place for Glendale and an attraction to be compared with the Mission Inn of Riverside. He called attention to the fact that the "making" of Pasadena was due to the large hotels opened there for wealthy tourists.

Time to Build

"If you want to build a hotel in this city," he remarked, "I will join you and I will put in as much money as you do. If we do anything, we have got to do it quickly. The time to open a hotel is when there is a clamor to get in. We can build the house in seven months."

George A. Whitney explained that his company was not a promoter but managed the financial side of similar business transactions. He promised that every cent raised should be expended for the hotel and assured those present that the proposition was clean and square-cut.

The character and hotel experience of Mr. Tremain were vouched for by G. H. Shellenberger, secretary and attorney for the International Chemical Products company of 720 East Broadway. He stated that Mr. Tremain has been in the hotel business for about 30 years and had made a success of each one in which he had been interested.

Bring Interests Together

A plea was made by Dr. Henry R. Harrower that the contemplated hotel might be the means of cementing the interests of Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard and averting the "geographical schism" which threatens to ruin local prosperity. He promised to double his subscription if necessary.

The support of the Chamber of Commerce was pledged by Secretary James A. Rhoades, who reminded those present that it was his business to look after the interests of all parts of the city. On account of the increase in value of the property about the hotel, he thought that there should be no difficulty in financing it on the east side. He asserted that it would double the value of all lots encircling it; increase the value of lots within a radius of three blocks one and a half times, and increase by 25 per cent the value of all lots within a radius of six blocks of it.

The importance of the hotel to the community was stressed by E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

WHO WAS RIGHT IN CIVIL WAR NO LONGER DISPUTE FOR TWINS

One Side About as Right as Other Is Decision Reached by Sisters

EL PASO, Tex., June 29. — A controversy of sixty-one years' standing over war has been settled at Clint, near here, without any aid from Washington. In fact, the Washington Peace Conferees knew nothing about the dispute at Clint and the conferees at Clint had but slight inkling of the jamboree at Washington, although both have far reaching effect.

The Clint controversy began with the Civil war and the "conferees," both aged women and twins, never separated for more than a few days at a time, could never agree on whether the North or South was right in that conflict. The husband of one served with the Union army and the husband of the other was in the Southern army.

The Clint twins are Mrs. Mae Peake and Mrs. Bell Billings, eighty-three years old. Since birth they have lived together, before their marriage, while their husbands were fighting during the Civil war and afterwards. They got along well together, both say, until this war came along, and they then had their first dispute. And while they have always been sisterly and affectionate, there were times when they almost decided it was best to live apart, and the deaths of their husbands, sixteen and eighteen years ago, failed to end the controversy.

The twins were born at Camden, Me., in January of 1839, went to Keokuk, Ia., in 1854, and a few years later to Missouri. The family name was Tarbell. Mae Tarbell married Dr. W. Peake, a Virginian. Bell Tarbell married at the same time John Billings, a Connecticut man. Naturally Virginia and Connecticut could not see the war in the same light, so Peake joined the Southern and Billings the Northern army, leaving the twins at home. The wives took up their husbands' cause, Mae championing the South and Bell the North, and they have been championing thus for the last sixty-one years. Mrs. Peake, the spryer of the two, acted as spokesman and told of the decision to bury the hatchet.

"You see, it was this way," she explained. "Bell is a mighty sweet girl, always has been, and we lived together fine, or did until that horrid war came along. We were both from Maine, but we stuck to our husbands' states. Bell and I wouldn't be separated from each other and yet we would not agree on anything in that war. Only once were we apart, and that was when Bell's husband was captured. She went to the Southern camp and, although officers there tried to get her to come home, she wouldn't do it without her husband, and, being persistent, she finally got him. Well, the war ended and our husbands came back, and we all went together to California, but Bell and I still argued about the war. That was the only thing we did argue about. Our husbands said they wished there never had been any war, if it was going to result in such a long quarrel, but what could we do? We're from Maine, and neither of us would give in.

"During the Spanish-American and World wars we almost had peace, but something would always come along to start the fuss. Then a few days ago Bell and I were out in the yard making a kettle of lard. We always worked together.

"'Bell,' I said, 'I believe we're getting old.' 'Yes, Mae,' she said, 'I suppose we are getting along.' 'How long ago did this here Civil war begin?' I asked. 'Just tell me that,' and Bell added a minute or two and said: 'Sixty-one years ago.' 'Seems to me that you and I have said about all there is to say about that war,' I declared. 'Doesn't make any difference if we are from New England. Life's too short to worry over something that happened that long ago. I want to take things quietly from now on, and, besides, the papers say there ain't going to be any more wars. If you'll stop and not mention the war again, I'll do the same. I think you're part right, anyway.'

"Well, Bell looked at me kinda funny and smiled, and said: 'Why, Mae, I've been wanting to stop talking about that blamed war all these years, but I just hated to give in. One side was about as right as the other, anyway, and I'll quit if you'll quit. There's nothing in war anyway.'

"So that's how it happened, and we're happier than we have been since 1861, and we don't care anything about the old war now, do we Bell?" and she turned to her twin for confirmation. Bell smiled a wrinkly but kindly smile.

"We certainly don't," she said, and picked up her sewing.

Mrs. Peake has thirteen children and twenty-six grandchildren, but her sister has no offspring. The family is as long lived as it is persistent, their mother having lived to be 103 years old. They trace their ancestry back to the witchcraft days of Salem. Dr. Peake died eighteen years ago and Billings sixteen years ago.

SANTA FE SPRINGS OIL DISTRICT IS VERY ACTIVE

C. C. Julian Proposition Is Attracting Many Investors, It Is Reported

One of the youngest but most widely known oil fields in Southern California is the Santa Fe Springs district which for the past few months has, indeed, been a scene of feverish activity; scores of new derricks now standing where there was nothing but orange trees less than a year ago.

One of the outstanding features of this field is the fact that, though numerous completions have been made, it is said that there is not a dry hole in the bunch—all producing from a 1000 to 4000 barrels of high gravity oil a day.

In visiting the field Wednesday afternoon, a representative of The Glendale Evening News was particularly interested in the operations of C. C. Julian, an oil driller and operator of over fifteen years' experience who is making preparations to drill three wells on a four-acre lease, just 500 feet from the famous Aggie well, owned by the General Petroleum company, which is making 4000 barrels a day; 700 feet from the Foy well owned by the Globe Petroleum company and only 1800 feet from the original discovery well which has been a steady producer ever since it blew in about six months ago.

Derrick Completed

The Julian well No. 1 has a 115 foot derrick completed, the rig is up and the boilers were being set in place Wednesday afternoon. The derrick is well anchored and is by far the heaviest and staunchest built in the field. The brand new rotary drill which is owned outright by the Julian organization was being assembled and actual drilling operations are expected to begin Tuesday of next week.

C. C. Julian, under whose personal supervision a picked crew of drillers is working, is one of the best known oil drillers in the south and west, particularly in Texas, where at the present time he is operating a number of rigs which are under contract to drill twenty-five wells.

While drilling hundreds of wells for other companies the past fifteen years, the Santa Fe wells are the first that Mr. Julian has attempted to put down as an independent producer and every precaution that money and experience can cover, is being used by Mr. Julian to strike oil, who is using his own machinery tools, etc. A twenty-inch hole with casing to match will be sunk the first 250 feet and the derrick was built extra large and strong so that it will easily be strong enough to hold the tons of weight that will be thrown upon it if it is necessary to go over 4000 feet to strike oil sand. Oil was struck at 3850 feet in the Aggie well, which the Julian No. 1 is offsetting, but Julian guarantees to go 4200 feet, if necessary, to strike oil.

Making Investments

It is said that many experienced oil men are investing in the Julian enterprise which is open to the public, on account of the clean, straightforward proposition offered to investors. No stock or units are offered for sale, but seventy per cent of the oil production is to be turned directly to the investors—the assignments to be held in trust by one of the leading banks of Los Angeles, which will collect the proceeds from the production direct from the pipe-line companies and distribute same every thirty days. As tht total amount to be subscribed is $175,000, it means that every $100 will buy 1-1750th part of 70 per cent production of the well.

As an idea of what leases are worth in the Santa Fe district, the Julian lease, on which Julian wells are to be drilled, was procured quite recently for $30,000, but on the showing made by the Aggie and other nearby wells which have just come in, it is stated that Mr. Julian has refused $100,000 for the lease.

Brooks E. Miller, who resides in this city, is the resident representative of the Julian organization in Glendale, with offices with the Roy L. Kent company, 130 South Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Colin Cable Is Hostess at Luncheon

Mrs. Colin Cable of 505 South Columbus avenue was hostess yesterday afternoon at a very charming luncheon party given in honor of Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones. The other guests included Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Charles H. Temple, Mrs. Leroy Bosserman, Mrs. Charles A. Parker, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Charles H. Meadows, Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Mrs. W. E. Evans, Mrs. Catherine Shank, Mrs. Frank Ayars, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. William P. MacMullin, Mrs. C. W. Houston, Mrs. John Robert White, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. W. W. Walker, Mrs. R. W. Meeker and Miss Eva Daniels.

The table was centered with lavender centaureas, coreopsis and choice carnations. Favors were carried out in a color scheme of pink. After a delicious luncheon a social afternoon was enjoyed, during which the guests contributed several musical numbers, including piano selections by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, vocal numbers by Mrs. Charles A. Parker, accompanied by Mrs. Hagood; piano numbers by Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman and vocal numbers by Mrs. William P. MacMullin, also accompaned by Mrs. Hagood.

Birthday Celebration for Evelyn Apffel

Mrs. James A. Apffel of 347 North Maryland avenue entertained with a children's party at her home yesterday afternoon in celebration of the eighth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Evelyn Apffel.

A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the floral decorations of daisies and coreopsis and also the clever table decorations. Little sunflower caps were at each place, as were also yellow "Chinamen" balloons and Mother Goose fans as place cards. From each place extended an orange-colored ribbon to a little silver bracelet, favors for the little guests. On the bracelet rested a yellow candy basket. This color scheme was also carried out in the large yellow birthday cake and candles and in the ice cream, which was molded in the form of animals.

The serving of refreshments followed a jolly afternoon during which the children played games. Evelyn Apffel was the recipient of many pretty gifts from her little guests.

Those invited included Ethel Sanders, Dorothy Brennan, Isabel Phister, Dicksy Lane, Frances Dunlop, Nan Jones, Doris Reichard and James Apffel of Glendale, Marjorie Niederer and Dorothy Niederer of Los Angeles, and Evelyn Apffel. Mrs. Apffel was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Arthur H. Dibbern.

War Mothers Elect Two New Officials

Glendale Lester Meyer chapter of War Mothers meeting yesterday afternoon at the Legion home elected Mrs. Estella M. Stevenson vice-president and Mrs. James Webb treasurer. In the absence of the president, Mrs. B. W. Sherwood, who is ill, Mrs. Stevenson presided over the meeting.

The meeting was featured by a report from Mrs. Samuel Dick of the recent convention in Los Angeles of California War Mothers. Following Mrs. Dick's report the chapter adopted resolutions of appreciation for the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce and Realty board and all other civic organizations in entertaining representatives of the convention when they visited Glendale June 16. Special resolutions were passed thanking S. W. Brown of the Green Hill Beverage company and Roberts & Echols for the donation to the chapter of space to sell the beverage given by the Green Hill company. The women realized forty dollars on the two-day sale.

It was decided at the meeting that the chapter will suspend activity during the summer months and that the next meeting will be the second Wednesday in September.

Bungalow Building Work Being Rushed

Work is progressing on the additions being made to the Bungalow grocery building at 119 South Central avenue, and F. P. Wilkin, owner of the property, expects the enlarged structure to be completed by the end of July.

Mr. Wilkin seems to have little fear of his property being condemned for the cutting through of the West Broadway curve, for he has instructed May & Hellman, contractors for the work, to go ahead with the construction. He is eager to have the project completed as soon as possible, he says.

The additions include the construction of a twenty-foot store room to the south, and the extension of it and the present building back to a depth of sixty feet. Foundation work is about complete and it is probable that brick work will be begun in a few days.

The bungalow which was in the rear of the store has been moved to the rear of the lot and fronts on Ivy street. It is to be lowered to foundations and remodeled. The second floor and the rear of the first floor are to be made into flats, and the front of the first floor will be a small store room.
